WERE ALIVE. AT CLOQUET.

Two Men Finally Rescued From Cleveland Waterworks Tunnel.

Cleveland, Aug. 20.—Adam Kost and Joseph Bugine, two of a dozen or more workmen who were trapped in the waterworks tunnel 200 feet below the surface of Lake Erie by the burning of crib No. 2 last Wednesday morning, were rescued from their horrible position late yesterday afternoon and are now lying semi-conscious at Huron street hospital, where, with careful nursing, the physicians say they will soon recover their former strength and probably become the worse for their experience.

Shut off from the upper world, the men knew nothing of the catastrophe that killed so many of their comrades and imprisoned them. They knew that something had severed their connection with the crib. They knew that beyond their lock behind which they had taken refuge the air was too foul to breathe. But they supposed that the trouble was temporary. Each day they expected to have their comrades come down the tunnel bent on rescue.

When their signal for help tapped on the air pipes was at last answered from the crib, Kost and Bugine were prepared to eat raw mule meat. At the hospital Bugine and Kost related some of their experiences. They said that they did not know that there had been a fire, and that they could not account for their plight unless some accident had happened which would soon be repaired. As the time passed, however, and hours lengthened into days, the men were beginning to fear by starvation, suffocation or drowning. Their tapping on the pipe to attract possible attention was done with little hope of its being heard, but fortune favored them and their presence was realized when a number of men who were at work repairing the burned crib heard the faint noise away down underground and immediately set out to rescue the unfortunate.

"We gave up more than once," said Kost. "We lost track of the time. I did not know whether it was six days or three. The gas must have made us sleepy. We slept a lot, I know, but did not know whether it was day or night down there."

"We tried to get out several times. Each time the gas drove us back. At last we decided that we were kept out, and we made a try, tapping on the pipe as we went along."

According to the story of these men, the first intimation Bugine and Kost had of the fatal Wednesday morning which saw the crib burned was the shutting off of the lights. The two men were working far in advance of the gang, and when the latter made their rush for safety Kost and Bugine were straining down behind the air lock, waiting for the lights to be turned on again. They did not hear the shouts and cries of their fellow-prisoners.

City of Golconda Rolls Over In Ten Feet of Water.

At Least Sixteen of the Passengers Were Drowned.

Accident Caused By Fierce Squall Striking the Steamer.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 20.—The steamer City of Golconda, plying between this city and Elizabethtown, Ill., was struck by a squall during a storm last night, while en route to Paducah and turned over in ten feet of water, six miles above the city, as she was going into Crowell's Landing.

Sixteen persons are reported drowned. The disaster occurred as supper was being served and many of the seventy-five passengers were in the cabin. The wind struck the boat without warning and there was no time for those on the inside to escape. Capt. George Bauer and Pilot E. E. Beck were the last to leave the boat and swim to shore. They saved several persons who were struggling in the water and left the survivors in a house near the bank and came to the city. Capt. Bauer, who arrived here two hours after the catastrophe, said:

"The boat was getting to land when the squall struck her and she listed. Several passengers who were inside jumped overboard and were caught by the boat. The ladies, all of whom were in the cabin, could not be reached. The boat settled down in the water and broke in two and two of the men who were in the cabin—H. B. Werten and N. S. Quartermaster of Hampton broke through the glass and were saved. Three colored deck hands saved a woman and child, and I think she was the only woman saved. A yawl that had broken loose was caught by some of those struggling in the water and taken on this, but could not find any signs of life and returned to shore."

The boat was valued at about $2500 and had been in the trade for several years, being owned by Capt. Otto Bauer, of Golconda, Ill. There is no way to determine the number or names of the dead until the boat is raised. A yawl that Capt. Beck places the number at sixteen.

A partial list of the lost follows: MISS LIZZIE GRAHAM, Grahamsville, Ky.; MISS THIRIE GRIMES, niece of Miss Graham; COL. TURNER, Smithland, Ky.; CHAMILLON GORDON, Smithland, Ky.; WILLIAM WEBB, Smithland, Ky.; WATTS DAVIS, Livingston county, Ky.; MRS. DAVE ADAMS, Smithland, Ky.; MISS LUCY BARNETT, niece of Mrs. Adams, Smithland, Ky.; CLARENCE SLEDEN, Iowa, Ky.; MRS. W. A. JONES, two sons and daughter, Paducah, Ky.; WILL WOODS, Golconda, Ill., deck hand; HORACE RONDEAU, Golconda, Ill., deck hand; D. E. JACKSON, Paducah, deck hand.

GEORGE STANBERRY, JAMES McALLISTER, of St. Louis, partially paralyzed in his lower limbs, swam ashore. The Mary N. returned at 11:30 o'clock last night with those saved. They reported that ten women were drowned and the total number of those who perished will reach seventeen or twenty. None of the bodies were recovered as the rescue came too late to get into the cabin. The only woman saved was Mrs. Hayden, wife of the engineer.

Divers are at work trying to recover the bodies. Miss Lizzie Graham is a daughter of one of the wealthiest tobacco manufacturers at Paducah, and is prominent in society. She would have been married shortly.

Miss Thirie Grimes, of Grahamsville, is also a prominent family. Mrs. W. A. Hogan, while trying to rescue her three children, pulled all four down.

The boat is valued at $10,000 and is insured for $5000.

He thought it was not loaded, and he pulled the trigger, and the little fellow at the root of the ear and passed along a line between the base of the brain and the root of the mouth.

Dr. T. S. Walker, of Northfield, and Dr. W. B. Hinsdale, of this city, were at once sent for and the parents made it a point to be as comfortable as possible. He was restless, however, and about a half past eight of the mouth, sneezed hard and out came the bullet. The wound in the mouth held a little, but the doctors say he is not seriously hurt and will recover.

Mrs. William Huver Deceived From Home By Bogus Letter.

Plot Is Foiled To Marry Her to Another Man.

Desperate Fight Between Old-Time Friends at Sioux City.

Sioux City, Iowa, Aug. 20.—A drama has come to light in Sioux City, which was near to a tragedy, and is bristling with plot and passion. William Huver wears his head in a bandage, cut and bruised, and is going to take his wife back to Council Bluffs soon from the home of a friend of eighteen years, George Davis, with the long fellowship broken, but with a plot foiled to marry Mrs. Huver to Charles Bloomington, a well-to-do stockman, after securing a divorce from her present husband.

For years Mrs. Martha Payson lived in Sioux City. She was pretty and fascinating of manner. Her husband, Will Payson, died some three years ago and she went to live in Council Bluffs. There she met William Huver, a tall, handsome man, and in the works of the American Smelting and Refining company in Omaha. She married him about a year and a half ago. They had a snug surplus to begin life together with, but Huver became "headed" in the smelter, was too ill to work and was obliged month after month to lie in bed at the home of George Davis, a friend and they were reduced to penury. Huver gained enough strength this summer to work in the harvest fields and he started for Sioux City to see George Davis, whom he had known well for eighteen years, and then to go to South Dakota, and earn the money they so badly needed.

Huver was near Aberdeen, S. D., when his wife received a letter from Davis telling her to go to Sioux City at once to join her husband. It was signed "William Huver." The husband was not successful in finding work, not being strong, and returned to George Davis' home. He arrived here about Aug. 7 and stayed until the following day, that day he and Davis discovered he had made, cleared up, and he dared George Davis to go out into the street and battle things there. Davis didn't.

Huver had overheard Davis talking to his wife, planning with her to meet Bloomington, secure a divorce from Huver and marry Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Huver were sitting on the porch of the residence under trees in Davis' yard, when Davis returned from his trip. Huver saw him with a briefcase, ordering him out of the yard. They broke away Huver had terrible gashes on his head and many bruises. Neither Davis nor Huver returned the matter to the police. They made damaging allegations against each other and the courts will be called upon to settle the affair.

LYNCHED. Negro Taken From Jail By Mob and Promptly Hanged.

Pierce City, Mo., Aug. 20.—Will Godley, a negro, was lynched by a mob composed of a thousand armed citizens shortly after dark last night, for the murder of Miss Casselle Wild, whose dead body was found yesterday in the woods near here.

The mob went to the jail about 9 o'clock, battered down the doors, and threw ropes around the necks of Godley and Jean Carter, another suspect. Godley was hanged in front of the Lawrence hotel, and his body riddled with bullets. Carter's guilt was not clearly established and he was taken back to jail.

Later Carter was taken out by the mob, riddled with bullets and left lying in the street. Carter confessed that he knew who committed the crime and charged Joe Clark, a railroad porter, now away on his run, with being the real culprit. The mob has arranged to meet Clark when he arrives at Monett in the morning and hang him.

Godley, the first negro lynched, had served a sentence in the penitentiary for outraging a woman 61 years of age. The feeling against the negroes here is intense.

RODE BRAKE BEAMS. Sons of Milwaukee Men Stranded at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 20.—James H. Walker, Paul T. Griffith and Walter Schmitz, each 18 years old, claiming to reside in Milwaukee, were taken from railroad yards here by the police Sunday night and locked up as vagrants.

Walker says he is a son of W. A. Walker, one of the leading lawyers of the Milwaukee road. Griffith says his father is James C. Griffith, general agent of the Mechanics Fire Insurance company, and young Schmitz says his father is a prominent attorney in his native city.

The boys left their homes on July 2, well supplied with funds, to visit the Pan-American exposition. They spent a week and all their money in Buffalo, and then became waiters in one of the restaurants in the exposition grounds. They made money there and started for New York Aug. 3, spending all their earnings and having a good time. With no funds they came to Washington on the brake beams of a freight car, where they were gathered in by the police.

When arraigned in the police court, Rev. E. Massie, representative of a religious society, agreed to make an effort to secure transportation for the boys to Milwaukee, and they were released on Mr. Massie's giving bond for them of $100 each. Mr. Massie has communicated with the boys' parents in Milwaukee and will probably send them home in a day or two.

MARTIN ROASTS KNOX

Answers Letter of Attorney General and Practically Charges Him With Faithlessness to His Oath of Office.

Washington, Aug. 21.—H. P. Martin, chairman of the joint committee of the American Anti-Trust league and district assembly No. 66, Knights of Labor, has made reply to the letter of Attorney General Knox sent to the committee yesterday. He says in part: "We are not aware that there was any impropriety in a citizen or body of citizens publicly addressing the chief prosecuting officer of the United States in reference to grave violations of law that were being committed to the great injury of the people of the United States. Attorney General Knox says: 'Neither at the time of the formation of the United States Steel corporation, nor at any time, was I officially connected with the Carnegie Steel corporation.' This looks like a very sweeping denial on the part of the attorney general as to many charges that have been made in the press to the effect that he was formerly connected with the Carnegie company or the steel trust. But the force and effect of this denial are entirely destroyed by the remarkable admission which the attorney general makes in the next sentence when he says: 'I was formerly one of its legal advisers in the conduct of its manufacture.'

FOREIGN COMMENTS
On the Little Trouble at the Isthmus.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 21.—The Novoye Vremya says: "President Castro is evidently desirous of declaring war upon Colombia in order to strengthen his weakening authority. What will be the outcome of all this complicated affair, it is difficult to say. Possibly war may result. In that case we must expect that the United States will not fail to intervene in this quarrel between two of its neighbors."

Paris, Aug. 21.—The Petit Journal says: "The foreign anxiety expressed in the papers of the United States over the Colombian situation is very strange here to us."

TERRIFIC

Crash of Passenger Train Into a Freight.

Five Were Killed and Six Badly Wounded.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 21.—In a head-on collision between the Chicago & Alton west-bound "hummer" and a freight train at Prentice early today, five men were killed and six badly injured. None of the passengers were injured beyond slight bruises. The dead are: ENGINEER SHEEHAN of passenger train. FIREMAN ADAMS of passenger train. Three unknown men riding on the tender of the passenger engine. Injured: Engineer Wood of the freight train; Robert Kiley, train man, of the passenger engine.

SITUATION UNCHANGED

Status of the Great Steel Strike Remains the Same, an Ominous Silence Prevailing On Both Sides.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 21.—There is no material change today in the strike situation. The feeling of irritation at Wellsville has been increased by the appointment of thirty strike breakers as special officers to guard the plant of the American Sheet Steel company, and the police here have dispersed noisy crowds at the recently tied-up tube plants, but there has been no serious trouble at any point. It is claimed an attempt was made last evening to fire the Monrovia works of the American Tinplate company, and the police have been called into the case and run down the supposed incendiary. According to the story told by John Schuster, general labor boss of the plant, a pressure gauge was knocked off an 8-inch gas main and burning paper thrown into the place with the idea of causing an explosion and fire. Schuster says he plugged the break before the brand was thrown and saved the works. The strikers indignantly deny that they had anything to do with the alleged plot. At the general offices of the American Tinplate company the incendiary theory was also being discounted. The officials said that during the evening a broken gas main had been discovered and repaired. The promised break in the Carnegie properties here at night, the lower outward appearances go, the lower

NO LONGER EMPLOYES

Illinois Steel Company Settles With Milwaukee Strikers and Will Consider the Employment of Non-Union Men.

Milwaukee, Aug. 21.—The Illinois Steel company, at its Bay View plant in this city, today, paid off the strikers and those affected by the strike in full and they are considered no longer employees. Those belonging to the Amalgamated association were paid the estimated 54 per cent as provided under the new scale agreement which operated from July 1 and which was signed a few days before the strike. Superintendent George Heis made a significant remark today which was to the effect that the Illinois Steel company now had the right to employ non-union men if it so desired. To this statement the strikers agreed. The company is quiet at the mills and nothing is being done in the way of repairs, which would indicate any intention to start up in the near future. The strikers are hopeful that a settlement between the national association and the United States Steel corporation will soon be effected.

STILL BURNS FIERCELY

Philadelphia, Aug. 21.—The big oil fire at the Atlantic Refining company's works at Point Breeze is burning more fiercely today than at any time since the first explosion occurred. Shortly before 6 o'clock this morning another tank exploded, the force of the explosion causing a big tank, near Passayung avenue, to career, the blazing oil flowing over the street and forcing the firemen to abandon that part of the works. The oil ran into the sewer which empties into the Schuylkill river, and the fire officials say the sewer is a raging furnace and that the flames probably will soon find their way to the river surface. All the police boats were throwing water on the flames have left, so they will not be caught by the burning oil when it flows into the river.

BARBADOES GALE SWEEP

Saint Thomas, D. W. I., Aug. 21.—A severe gale swept over Barbadoes and other islands yesterday. A number of small craft were wrecked. The storm was most severely felt at St. Vincent.

DEATH RATE IS LOWER

Washington, Aug. 21.—The census bureau today issued a bulletin giving the mortality statistics during the census year in the states and territories and the principal registration cities. The total number of deaths reported for the year was 1,039,094, as against 841,419 for 1890. Perhaps the most important feature of the results presented is found in a decrease in the general death rate in the registration area of 1.8 per 1000 of population, a decrease of nearly 10 per cent. The average age at death in 1890 was 31.1 years, in 1900 it was 35.2 years.

HARMONY PREVAILS

At State Convention of the Republicans in Pennsylvania.

Platform Endorses the Acts of the Last Legislature.

Judge Potter and Frank G. Harris Are the Nominees.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 21.—The Republican state convention, which met in the Harrisburg opera house today to nominate Judge William P. Potter, of Pittsburgh, for supreme court judge, and State Representative Frank G. Harris, of Clearfield, for state treasurer, was a most unusual gathering. United States Senators Quay and Penrose and other party leaders were absent. There was an unusually small attendance of active party workers and a large majority of the delegates never attended a state convention before.

Judge Potter was formerly Governor Stone's law partner and was appointed to the supreme bench last year to succeed the late Judge Green. Mr. Harris is serving his third term in the house of representatives, and has always been a follower of Senators Quay and Penrose. The platform on which they were nominated endorses the national and state administrations and the official acts of Pennsylvania's United States senators, commends the last legislature, concedes the right of labor and cautions to organize and denounces "yellow journalism." J. O. Brown, Pittsburgh's director of public safety, was temporary chairman, and David H. Lane, of Philadelphia, permanent chairman. Mr. Brown is the personal representative of Senator William Flynn, of Allegheny, former leader of the anti-Quay Republican organization. Mr. Flynn was urged by Governor Stone and other leaders at a conference last night at the executive mansion to serve as temporary chairman, but he declined. He was a delegate and for the first time in many years took an active part in the proceedings of the party. Mr. Lane is a personal and political friend of Mayor Ashbridge, of Philadelphia. George Frank Keefer, of Easton, was elected chairman of the state committee at a meeting of the candidates after the convention. The speeches of the chairman and the nominating speeches were noted with interest by the spectators who were in the galleries when State Chairman Reader called the British Companies at Peking Are Being Gradually Changed.

Peking, Aug. 21.—The British troops who have been here since last year are being gradually replaced by new commands. Three companies of the Fourteenth Sikh and a battalion of the Sixth Burmah have arrived. Col. Cary replaces Col. Alexander as commander in Peking.

The failure of the British to evacuate Peking annoys the Chinese officials. They alone refuse to permit Yuan Shih Kai's troops to enter Peking, though only two of the twelve proposed posts are within the former British section. Chinese officials confess that the reason given for the court's delay in replacing Peking is a mere pretext. The excuse offered recently has been the bad condition of the roads, the heat, the infirmity of the Chinese soldiers and the desire to celebrate her birthday at Kailang-Fu. The real reasons are that the Chinese still retain supremacy in Peking and vicinity and evacuation has not been accomplished.

LEE'S VIEWS.

Former Military Attache From England Talks a Little.

New York, Aug. 21.—Capt. Arthur H. Lee, formerly military attache at the British legation in Washington, who is in the city, having arrived on the Kaiser Wilhelm from London, when reminded of a story from Grosse that he had refused to shake hands with V. Bourke Cockran when they were introduced said: "I have been reported, but I could not refrain from reminding him that I was a member of the British army. I was present at the battle of Santiago. He resigned from the army while in England and entered parliament. So far as the military operations are concerned, said he, 'The Boer war is ended. The army is simply doing police duty over the country.' " "Why did I leave the army? Well, I always wanted to go into politics. I believe that England and America should have closer relations. I think I can be instrumental in bringing about that desirable result."

DEATH TRAP

Six Men Are Drowned In Waterworks Tunnel.

Casing Crushed and All Quickly Perished.

Cleveland, Aug. 21.—As the result of an explosion of gas in the new waterworks tunnel, under Lake Erie last night, five more lives were added to the long list of casualties recorded since work began on the great artificial waterway. The dead: RAY TREADSHAW, JAMES WILLIAMS, DANIEL HIGGINS, JAMES DALLINCOURT, JOHN BERT. Crib No. 3, five miles out and two miles beyond crib No. 2, (where nearly a dozen lives were lost a week ago was the scene of the latest accident. The work of sinking the big intake shaft at this point was completed yesterday and five workmen were engaged in digging a tunnel in the direction of crib No. 2 when the explosion occurred. The heavy casing of the shaft was shattered by the terrific force of the explosion and an immense volume of water from the lake rushed in upon the workmen at the bottom. Two men who were at work on the staging at the top of the shaft were blown high into the air, but alighted on the crib unharmed. Thirty men who were on the crib without boats, when the explosion took place, spent the night vainly signaling for assistance. It was long after daylight before a tug reached them. It is supposed the victims struck a vein of gas, which was ignited by a spark made by a workman's pick. Heavy iron girders and machinery, weighing more than 100 tons, were forced out of the shaft by the explosion. So great was the destruction wrought by the explosion that it probably will be weeks before the damage can be repaired and the bodies recovered. Mayor Johnson visited the scene and immediately ordered all construction work on the tunnel stopped until every safeguard shall be prepared for the men's protection.

FORBEARANCE CEASES

The French Ambassador, Disgusted With the Continued Prevarications of the Sultan, Breaks Off Diplomatic Relations.

Constantinople, Aug. 21.—The French ambassador, M. Constans has notified the sultan's first secretary that all diplomatic relations between France and Turkey are broken off, and that the ambassador has notified his government to this effect. M. Constans communicated direct with the sultan because the latest negotiations were transacted with the sultan personally. The ambassador justifies his action on the ground that the sultan broke his direct, personal promise, given to M. Constans, at an audience in the Yildiz palace, Thursday, regarding the purchase of the quays and the settlement of the disputed French claims. The foreign minister also gave formal assurances that the agreement would be carried out, so, in view of this double breach of faith, M. Constans holds that it is impossible for France to continue diplomatic relations with Turkey.

FENDER CRUSHES HEADS

Peculiar and Probably Fatal Accident to Three Choir Boys Who Were on Excursion Steamer City of Milwaukee.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—When the excursion steamer City of Milwaukee was passing through Rush street bridge today, a fender which caught on the spiles moved the heads of three choir boys who were leaning over the rail. Two of the boys were badly injured and one of them probably will die. The steamer brushed against the piling of the bridge, which forced the fender up, and as the rope broke the fender recoiled like a huge bow. The three boys stood with their heads against the heads of the engine of destruction. The head of the first boy was nearly crushed by the blow. The accident was one of those which always seem imminent when boats are passing through bridges, but this was the first time it has actually occurred in the Chicago river.

MORE MEN DEPORTED

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 21.—The business men's committee, which deported thirteen of the leaders of the striking cigar makers two weeks, yesterday notified seventeen of the new leaders of the union, who constitute the central committee, that they must leave the city within twelve hours. The committee at once resigned, and all but three of them, it is said, have already left for Key West and Havana.

TOO YOUNG.

A Ruling Which Affects Many Medical Students.

New York, Aug. 21.—A very large number of medical students of the city and state of New York will be barred from the September preliminary examination for admission to practice, if a ruling of the state regents holds. About 250 students are said to be eligible, but the regents have required that no one could be admitted for examination under 21 years of age. This will bar about one-half of those otherwise eligible. The students have brought the matter to the attention of the authorities of the university, and Bellevue hospital medical colleges, Cornell medical college and the college of physicians and surgeons and the secretaries of those institutions—the leading medical colleges of the United States—have promised to use their best endeavors to have the regents change the ruling in the interest of the students.

Not a Case in Duluth and Detention Hospital Closed.

Health Department Will Strive to Have This Condition Continue.

Not a Case of Diphtheria or Scarlet Fever, Either.

The doors at the detention hospital were closed today. There is not a smallpox case in the city of Duluth. This is the first time since August, 1900, that there has not been one or more occupants of the hospital, and the expense has been large. It is little wonder that the health department heaves a sigh of relief when the announcement is made.

Dr. Robinson suggested this morning that it would be well for the public to know that the hospital is closed, because some one might go out that way and find themselves locked out. He says he hopes that the hospital is closed for good and that there will not be another case in this vicinity to cause its reopening, but that such a condition could hardly be expected. The local health authorities, however, are heartily in accord with any plan of procedure on the part of the county and state officials for the prevention of the disease, and now that it has been eradicated from Duluth, extra precaution will be taken to see that it is not brought in again by infection from the outside.

Dr. Robinson also says that there is not a case of diphtheria or scarlet fever in the city; that it is, in fact, in a remarkably healthy condition, and with the usual delightful fall weather, comparatively little sickness may be looked for from now on to winter. There was a period during the past two months that an outbreak of diphtheria was threatened, but the department took precautions for a complete quarantining of all cases and the disease has run itself out.

Harvest Rates to the West Are No Longer Given.

The harvest rates given by the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific Railway companies to the Dakotas went into effect last evening, and any aspirant for work in the harvest fields of the West leaving Duluth, Minn., will have to pay full fare. The harvest rate went into effect on July 26, a little more than a month ago, and was made at that time to meet the demands from the West for men for early harvesting. The local agents of the railroad companies received a large number of men from the head of the lakes to the Western wheat fields this year. During the first two weeks the rush was the heaviest, and grew lighter as the harvest season progressed. It is doubtful if there is a larger crop and that many days now. There are good reasons for that condition of affairs, however.

The railroad men say that as many if not more men have left Duluth for the West from the head of the lakes for the harvest season this year as from the Twin Cities. It might be added that fully as many are now coming back to the head of the lakes as are returning to the Twin Cities.

The early return of so many men is according to their story, due to the action of the Dakota farmers in flooding the labor camps of the Northwest with fake reports of immense crops, scarcity of labor and big wages. The men say there is a large crop, but more than enough men, and wages have, as a consequence, been cut way down.

The rush for the West has been larger this year than last, for the reason that there was a light wheat crop in the Dakotas last season, and the fact was so well advertised that not many men went out there. The heaviest harvest business, however, occurred about five years ago, when there was practically an exodus of laborers from this vicinity. At that time there was little doing for the laboring men in Duluth or vicinity, and they depended on the harvest work. Conditions have changed now. There is all kinds of work right in this region and at better wages than in the West. Day labor in any line of work is paid the highest wages at the present time, and the men that are coming back from the West broke and discontented are hustling out on the contract work to be had here and at points reached by the railroads.

There are few railroad contract jobs that are not paying $2.50 now, and the contractors want all the men they can get. Free railroad fare is being offered.

One of the new factors to cut a figure in the head of the labor market is the Chicago & Northwestern road, which is hiring men here to work on the road near Milwaukee and Chicago at $2.25, with free fare to work. This company will work to the north and winter. A large number of men left today for this work.

Fund for the Football Team Is Under Way.

Over $100 is already subscribed to the guarantee fund of the high school football team and the prospects are for a much larger amount. Of this $100 the sum of $57 was promised by the boys at the football meeting held last night at the high school. The money is to be paid if the team needs it to pay up expenses at the end of the season, and if but half the amount subscribed is needed at that time, then each person will get along with a little money as possible and to make each game more than pay for itself, so that the Athletic association will be ahead at the end of the season. In that case no money will be required from the guarantors. At present there is but $17.50 in the treasury, the association having paid off a $200 debt during the winter that was incurred last fall by the team.

A committee was appointed to pass the subscription list around through the school and among the business men of the city. Already about $50 more than was subscribed last night has been promised.

Besides the guarantee fund, the feasibility of getting football pins, like those given away by the Great Eastern last fall, and selling them was discussed. Several other methods of raising money were talked over, although nothing definite was decided upon.

Fred Mallet, captain of last year's football team, spoke briefly of the outlook this year which, he said, was very bright. More boys are trying for the team on account of the large number of vacancies left by the graduation of the senior players in form. He expects to have the squad in good trim by the time that school begins.

During all of last year, said Dr. Park, "our opponents made their yards on us but twenty-two times, and this year we have an even better opportunity of getting in form. We did not go against one team last year that was really in our class. This year, I understand, we will meet the Minneapolis and St. Paul Central High schools, and it will take a great deal of hard work on our part, I think, to get the best of them. I am sure that if we get the right sort of work and the right kind of support, we can bring out a winning team."

OPENING OF SCHOOL.

Teachers Are Already Beginning to Arrive.

Teachers and pupils are looking forward to the opening of the school year, which is very close at hand. The Duluth schools will open on Sept. 3, this year, which is about two weeks earlier than it has been customary to begin the year. The school buildings are being put in condition for the opening as fast as possible and it is expected that all preliminary arrangements as to opening examinations will be announced the first of next week. Already some of the teachers whose homes are outside of the city are beginning to arrive and are searching for rooms and board for the coming year. It has been suggested from the superintendent's office that any persons desiring to take teachers for board and room this year should drop a card to the office, giving their name and address.

AT WEST DULUTH

The remains of Samuel Frederickson, who lost his life at the Murray & Jones mill early Tuesday morning, are still at the undertaking rooms of W. C. Gray, who is using every means possible to return the whereabouts of the dead man's relatives or friends. Mr. Gray has a telegram from the postmaster at Iron River, Wis., which states that Frederickson went to West Duluth about a month ago, and that he came to Iron River from Ashland. Nothing additional was learned as to the man's past life, and if nothing comes up in the next two or three days buried in the potter's field at county expense was his last wish.

The investigation as to the cause of Frederickson's death by the coroner has brought out that he had sustained a fatal injury before falling into the water, as his skull was fractured at the base of the brain. Frederickson was a lumber piler, and in walking from one pile to another, he fell, being joined by a single plank, he lost his balance and revolved the injury. The result was his being drowned. In falling his head came into contact with a piece of timber projecting from one of the piles. Frederickson was engaged to work at the Murray & Jones mill on the day of his death, and consequently his first day's labor for his employer was his last.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.
Anthony Johnson was arrested yesterday on a warrant charging him with assault and battery upon August Peterson. The trouble was all caused by a fence which was built by Peterson. Mr. Johnson is of the opinion that some of his property has been stolen by Peterson, and in arguing the case the alleged assault took place. Johnson was taken before Judge Johnson, who stopped further proceedings by taking a change of venue to Freerickson, where a good trial can be had.

The grocery stores of West Duluth will close today on Labor Day. A considerable number of the clerks are of the opinion that the stores should be closed all day on the occasion, as the closing at the hour designated will not permit them to participate in the parade, which all of the members of the Clerk's union are anxious to do.

LADIES SURPRISED THEM.
The ladies of the A. O. U. W. surprised the members of the lodge when they were in session last night. The rooms in Gilley's hall. It is not, perhaps, generally known among the friends of Percy Nash, formerly the cashier of the Ohio Coal company in this city, that he has resigned his position and turned his energies toward tilling the soil. Mr. Nash has held a 100-acre claim about seven or eight miles west of Lakeport, on the Brainerd & Northern railroad, for several years. The land is partly cleared and has a house on it. Mr. Nash and family left for their new domicile and new occupation on Aug. 15. Mr. Nash has been connected with the coal company a number of years. Fashions Make Seven and Let the Sentinels Win.

Hanley Pitched Well But Lost His Head Once.

Duluthians Got Nine Hits But Failed to Bunch Them.

The Sentinels will never make Milwaukee famous! Herr Val Bechtel, the crack pitcher of the Duluth team, was on the mound for Milwaukee, but the visitors did not win through his pitching. It was an off day for the maroons. They made seven costly errors. Nine hits were scattered through the game when two or three hits bunched would have won. Milwaukee's first game of the series, the Duluth team, 35, speed and good curves, but he lost his head in the first inning when he made an error covering first. He deliberately threw the ball into left field, letting it go on. At another stage in the game he was hit by a line drive when the bases were filled. One of the sensational features of the game was the playing of Constock, the visitor's first baseman. He is built like a six-footed giant, and whatever it was, that set on the ground and off the tree tops in prehistoric times. He has teeth like a porcupine and a disposition like an alarm clock. He was out for the game yesterday and nothing could stop him. After a hard run, he made a phenomenal one-handed catch of Stahl's shot by in the sixth. He also made a great one-handed catch of Stahl's shot by in the sixth. He also made a great one-handed catch of Stahl's shot by in the sixth. CONFISCATED THE BEER.
Barge Works Employees Run Against Police.

The employees of the shipyard held their first and they declare it will be their last, picnic at Oatka beach yesterday. The men and their families had a good time except in one particular, that particular thing is making them pretty sore. It seems that when they planned the picnic, the fact that they were going into the state of Minnesota did not occur to them, or if it did, they thought it would not do much harm. The change of water between the two cities is a bad thing and to prevent all danger that might follow the change they took the precaution of reaching the Point at night, but it was not enough. The beer was not tapped. The Superintendents looked with longing eyes toward the refreshing liquid, but it was not to be. The men from the shipyard carried the beer. Before reaching the beach yesterday the men from the shipyard carried the beer. Before reaching the beach yesterday the men from the shipyard carried the beer. Strange Rappings In an Ohio Village Baffle Investigators.

Decide to Call In Medium and Await Developments.

The People Are Very Much Excited Over the Mystery.

Lima, Ohio, Aug. 21.—The little village of Unopolis, southwest of the city, is torn up over all sorts of rappings, which have continued for some time and have been the cause of two families moving out of the premises, which are now untenanted. Stories of all kinds are floating throughout the town and surrounding country, and explanations of the many kinds are given as to the cause of the rappings. Some say that the cause of the rappings is the fact that the house is haunted, and their stories are supported by several reputable persons from this city, who, having heard of the rappings, refused to take the word of equally reputable persons and last night made an investigation for themselves, and they are now convinced beyond doubt that there are spirit communications going on in the house. So greatly are they impressed with what they have heard and with what took place in the rooms that they have arranged for a medium to accompany them to the house and will attempt to hold verbal communication with the beyond.

FREE VACCINATION.
School children whose parents are unable to pay will be vaccinated without charge at the health department, City Hall, from 8 to 9 a. m. August 22nd to 27th inclusive. J. W. Miller, Secretary Board of Health.

Pretty Incident of Miss Mackenzie's Visit In Sweden.

An interesting incident in the foreign travels of Miss Rebecca Mackenzie, the Duluth singer, who will appear in concert at the Lyceum this evening, is thus narrated by an Eastern paper: "While Miss Mackenzie was in Stockholm, Sweden, she was the guest of the American minister, an American ship was anchored in the bay, and she was requested to sing to the crew. She was an American girl, that she sang an American song, and after a slight rest aboard the ship, she was escorted to the deck where the whole crew was assembled. She stood upon a chair, and her sweet voice rang out over the water. The day was quiet, with just a gentle breeze to carry the words of the song. The sailors across the beautiful Scandinavian waters. How the boys in blue shouted. Their hearts were lifted to the highest feeling of patriotism, for they had heard an American song since they left America, and when they cheered the echoes reverberated across the bay. The girls of that fair land of the north. There is no doubt that Miss Mackenzie will receive a great welcome this evening at her first concert in Duluth in several years."

THE PICNIC

Newsboys Have Big Time at Sucker River.

Baseball, Races and All They Could Eat.

The fourth annual newsboys' picnic has come and gone, and the event for which The Herald has looked forward to for so many months is over. Yesterday was an ideal day for the picnic, and the weather was proved to be a perfect day on which to enjoy themselves.

Although the boys were not expected down before 7:30 o'clock, they commenced showing up at 6:15 and came in a steady stream from that time on. The West Duluth delegation arrived on time with their baseball team and their lunch baskets, and at 7:45 a yelling, whistling, cheering, stamping, enthusiastic and happy crowd of all ages filled The Herald circulating rooms for final orders.

After a short talk from A. C. Pearson, the manager of the circulation department of The Herald, who was the guiding light of the expedition, a procession was formed, with the West Duluth carrying the baseball team, wearing their blue uniforms, following. After the two teams came the crowd of about 400 newsboys, over the top of the hill, and down the hill, and then to the Sucker river, where they were met by a crowd of about 100 people.

When the train started about 5:15 every one was in a hurry to get to the picnic, and the boys were the first to get on the train. They were packed in the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train. They were packed in the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train. They were packed in the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train.

When the train arrived at Sucker river, sixteen miles distant, all the boys and their families were met by a crowd of about 100 people. The boys were the first to get on the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train. They were packed in the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train.

The chief interest of the day aside from the baseball game, was the picnic. The boys were the first to get on the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train. They were packed in the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train.

The West Duluthians had the advantage in size, but the boys were the first to get on the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train. They were packed in the train, and the boys were the first to get on the train.

Nate Boffsky and Joe Bouska and Anderson both fanned. In the fifth Burke was hit by a pitched ball and stole second. Nate Boffsky was walked to first and Summers hit for two bases, bringing in both men. Cavanaugh cracked out another two-bagger and Benton went out at first. Grant McLean hit for a three-bagger, scoring Cavanaugh and the next two men went out.

PROGRAM OF RACES. These were originally arranged by Mr. Pearson for the Fourth of July to fill in a heterogeneous pile. At the word "go" pandemonium broke loose, and each youngster dove into the pit, searching for his own particular wearing apparel and throwing every other thing to the four winds.

open the air brakes. They were quickly soiled on this question, however, and the rain crew took their troubles philosophically remarking that they had been boys themselves once.

Only one boy felt any ill effects from the day and that one suffered from nothing more than a very bad stomach ache. Five or six slices of watermelon, two pocketfuls of peanuts, four or five quarts of lemonade, several boxes of crackerjack, besides a number of other things for strange reasons did not agree with him, but he was well enough to sell his Herald on the street last evening.

Mr. Kirk on whose farm the picnic was given, rode in to Duluth with the boys, and as he passed through the cars was given a perfect ovation. He is a mighty good friend to the boys and they know it and are not slow to appreciate his friendly and backward-looking showing of appreciation of it. Three cheers were given for "Pink." For the Herald, for Sucker river, for Mr. Kirk's family, for the peanuts, the watermelons, the baseball teams, the donors, the railroad and the picnic. The boys arrived in the city at 3:45, full to the brim with happiness and watermelon.

Four hundred and sixty-three boys attended the picnic. They consumed, besides the eighty-two watermelons and the 100 quarts of lemonade and some pretty good-sized lunches which they brought with them, a lot of crackerjack, peanuts, and other things. Mr. Pearson in administering to the wants of the newsboys and acting as a sort of safety valve for them, Messrs. F. R. Fox, B. Slaughter and Drew Dunn, besides the other carriers. Everybody got home safe, and the next thing on the program will be the Thanksgiving dinner.

Each Ward Expected to Get Seven More Before Long.

Along with other municipal improvements comes the announcement that there will be a big improvement in street lighting about the first of the year.

Girl Burglar Terrorizes Part of New York For Weeks.

She Brought Home $2500 In Cash at One Time.

Claimed That the Money Was Won In Wall Street.

New York, Aug. 21.—Queensborough is part of Greater New York, and adjoins Brooklyn. The district attorney of Queens recently offered $100 for every burglar caught dead or alive. There was a startling development. Delinquent and starting innocently at police men and court officials, pretty Rosa France, 15 years old, whose father frequently received letters bearing the coat-of-arms of the royal family in Germany, stood in court at Bar Rockaway, charged with burglary.

Tenderly reared by her mother, who starved herself that her daughter might receive a good education and become a business woman, say the police, who declare that Rosa has developed into one of the cleverest of child criminals, they will connect her with a band of burglars which has terrorized Queensborough for several weeks.

Rosa, after appealing for assistance to the family of John Fitzgerald last Monday night, received a place to sleep and her breakfast in the morning. She then left. When the Fitzgerald family went to the fields for the day she returned and robbed the house of $47 in cash and much jewelry. She then dropped all the furniture in black cloth and placed mourning bands about the mirrors and pictures.

"I know there could be mourning in that house when they missed their daughter," Rosa pearly told Policeman Albrecht, when he arrived.

"I guess I am not this time, all right."

While Rosa, M. Kirby got her name and age she frequently laughed at his questions and thought the whole affair exceedingly funny.

"Married?" said Rosa, with fine scorn. "I guess I'm not. I'm single and not even a candidate for matrimony."

The girl is exceptionally pretty, and although only 15, looks and acts as though she were 18 or 20. Her hair is a bright golden color, with high-cut down her back, caught up with a bow of red silk ribbon. She has laughing, bonnie blue eyes, her features are all lovely. She was well dressed, wearing a fashionably made skirt of gray material, a silk shirtwaist with high-cut sleeves, and nicely trimmed sailor hat. Rosa has been seen frequently about Jamaica, recently, and the burglar displaying an amazing familiarity with the interior of the dwelling.

Rosa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward France, who lived at Woodmont, L. I., until eight months ago, when France mysteriously disappeared. He came from Germany, where he said he had been a colonel in a Prussian regiment, but had been killed for some infraction. On his right arm was tattooed the royal arms of Germany and the motto, "Gott mit uns."

"Remember William is my friend," he said on one occasion. Distinguished-looking Germans called on him occasionally and he received letters bearing the coat-of-arms of the family.

A stranger came one day to France, the two shook hands, talked long and earnestly in German, and the stranger went away. A week or ten days later a letter bearing a big red seal arrived. France was much excited over its receipt, and gathering what money he could, left the next day and he has never been heard of since.

Mrs. France believed that her husband had been drowned and sent Rosa to a business college. The girl was graduated with credit and came home one day much elated, saying that she had obtained a fine position.

"A big banker in Wall Street has employed me as his secretary and stenographer," she told her mother. "I am to have $25 a week and two months' vacation in summer."

The next day Rosa went to work, and each week brought home to her mother $25, which she could pay her own board.

KNOX IS CAUSTIC

Makes Reply to Martin's Inquiries About Steel Trust.

Knows Nothing Whatever About Its Conception or Formation.

Intimates That If He Did He Would Not Tell.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Attorney General Knox yesterday sent the following letter to a joint committee of the American Anti-Trust league and district assembly 66, Knights of Labor, in reply to one from the committee requesting information from Mr. Knox regarding the United States Steel corporation:

Washington, Aug. 20.—To H. B. Martin, chairman joint committee of American Anti-Trust league.

Sir: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of Aug. 19, 1901, in which you request me to obtain for you information relative to certain agreement or agreements between the constituent companies and individuals who organized the United States Steel corporation. You ask me to afford you all the information that "I may possess or can obtain," and you specifically refer to an alleged "trust or syndicate agreement," which you state the president of the United States Steel corporation has laid out for himself in this connection. It is doubtful if he can himself see the end of it, and I doubt if he means to do so.

STUPENDOUS

Task That Tom L. Johnson Has Laid Out For Himself.

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 21.—If Tom L. Johnson has his way in the next reform fight he is waging, the tax rate will eventually drop from nearly 3 per cent to 1½, and possibly less, in this county.

Should the state board of Columbus add the $500,000,000 valuation to the railroad that Johnson demands, in the neighborhood of $12,000,000 will be saved to the taxpayers of the state.

The tax rate varies in every county, according to the valuation of taxable property and the expenses of the governing machinery. The levy for state purposes is the only part of the tax that is not used by the county.

For that reason the amount saved to the taxpayers of the whole state, in the case of this $500,000,000 additional being made, cannot be positively determined until the various county auditors have made their reports.

There are about as many different rates of taxation in the state as there are counties, and the average rate, 2.85 per cent, is one of the highest.

Outside of what the state board does in valuation of the property of railroad property "used in the daily operation of the road," Johnson proposes to add about $100,000,000 to the duplicate in this county alone. He has already placed about $20,000,000 on, and this affects only the two street railroad companies, two gas lighting companies and one electrical illuminating company. He alleges that there is this $500,000,000 worth of railroad property in the city that is not on the duplicate at all, for the reason that it is not used by the daily operation of the road. His board can attend to that class of railroad property, though it can not be easily used in the delivery, etc., as county auditors attend to that. Then there are thousands of acres of land under water on the lake front, between the shore and the harbor line, the ownership of which is claimed by railroads and old corporations.

They have never paid a cent of taxes on this land, though it is very valuable and is being used for business purposes. The value of land is going up all the time, and he expects to find several millions in it.

Summer Errors

The torrid heat of Summer is almost unbearable under the most favorable conditions, even when the blood is healthy and the skin doing its allotted work properly, and the sweat glands open and pouring out an adequate supply of perspiration to keep the body at an even temperature, but, unfortunately, there are many who must endure not only the suffocating, debilitating heat, but in addition the unspeakable tortures of some burning and itching skin disease.

The acid poison in the blood that causes Eczema, Tetter and other diseases of this type seem warmed into life and renewed activity by the Summer's heat. The action of these acids upon the blood soon destroys all of its life-preserving qualities, and it becomes hardly more than water. The skin, instead of receiving a supply of pure and cooling blood, is blistered and burned by the fiery fluids that are carried to the surface, and the pores are soon so swollen and inflamed that perspiration is checked, and the whole body feels like an overheated furnace. Night and day, almost without intermission, the burning and itching continues. No sleep or rest for the tired body. At last the nerves grow weak and the constitution breaks down under the terrible strain. The almost distracted sufferer finds some solace in scratching, and temporary relief from bathing and the application of soothing lotions and salves, but the liquid fire that seems to be burning within and without, and slowly consuming the body, is not quenched by these temporary remedies; the lost properties must be restored to the blood, and only persistent and faithful constitutional treatment can do this.

A trial of S. S. S. will soon convince you of its wonderful curative qualities and its virtue as a remedy for all skin affections, no matter in what form the disease appears, whether as sores, pimples, watery blisters or the dry and scaly kind. At this season, when the blood and skin are endeavoring to throw off the poison, is a much more favorable time to begin treatment and help nature to do the work.

S. S. S., being a purely vegetable remedy, is best suited for this purpose; it neutralizes the acids, purifies and cools the blood, and leaves no vestige of the poison to re-form and bring on a fresh outbreak of the disease. There is no Arsenic, Potash or other harmful ingredient in S. S. S. It is a safe and pleasant purifier and tonic that completely and permanently eradicates all impurities from the system, and makes a lasting cure of blood and skin troubles. Skin diseases are not incurable, as some doctors would have you believe.

If you are a sufferer from Eczema, Tetter, Acne, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum or other skin disease, write to our physicians about your case and receive advice and special directions from them without any cost to you whatever, and our free book on blood and skin diseases will be a valuable aid to you, also, while treating yourself.

SHERIFF FIRES ON MO

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 22.—A News staff correspondent at Asheville wired at 12:50 p. m. that Sheriff North had just fired on a mob seeking to lynch James Brown, a colored man, who was being taken and convicted at that place for rape.

Twenty members of the mob were fatally wounded. They were Walter Blankenship and Jamie Blankenship.

One hundred shots were fired. The sheriff said he was not trying to reforming to make another attack.

Sheriff North is trying to get communication with the governor to secure the military.

Vienna, Aug. 22.—Professor Edward Suess, the eminent publicist and paleontologist, has given an interview respecting the industrial and political preponderance of the United States that attracts much attention, especially as it confirms the anti-American views of continental manufacturers and economists.

The professor, surveying international relations from a strictly philosophical standpoint, observes that while the French revolution was occasioned by the abuses of the old regime, the present revolution has been caused by a revolution of material conditions. The declining national sentiment has shown the need of movement for the common defense of the Central European states against the American monster.

As the American monster is unable to conquer the foreign markets more surely than they could be conquered by the Central European states, the trade has reached an unparalleled figure. It is a serious question, he said, if the present political situation, under the present policy, is strong enough to make an effective defense, taking into account the conditions. The shifting of the center of gravity of the world's commerce to create three great units—China, Russia, and America. When China shall have been able to produce goods, such people will find that she has the most capable merchants and the cheapest labor. Russia will have the largest army and be the greatest peasant state. American capital will flow to the other two, and the latter will prosper in the increase of her economic prosperity. Of the three the United States has the least to fear, he declared. Its policy is commercial aggression, beyond doubt, and states like Russia and China will be able to gain far more in the way of the mobilization of their powers than the conservative Central European countries as Germany and France.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Capt. Thomas F. Schley, Twenty-third infantry, has made an official reply to the letter of the War Department regarding the alleged interview credited to him in the matter of the Schley court of inquiry. Capt. Schley says that he had no interview, and has talked for publication with no person. He says that "some remarks" made by him in a private conversation were picked up, distorted and extended upon, and the publication misrepresented what he said. He says he had no conversation with other gentlemen. The letter is regarded at the department as completely exonerating Capt. Schley from any explanation of the alleged interview.

HAY IS BACK.
Washington, Aug. 22.—Secretary Hay

of the Dudley case, known as Dudley vs. Downing cases, said Mr. Littlefield: "There would seem to be no reason to decide that it was not a robbery. It is a robbery. That it was not raises the inference, and the inference is not a very strong one, of a prearrangement, or that there was a greater force than was necessary to take the property once to it. Justice Gray is the only one who has taken exception to the opinion." Mr. Littlefield considered the other cases of the same kind, and said that the result in the unsettled condition of the court is that the law is not settled. His conclusion is that the law is not settled. The result of those cases is that the law is not settled. So far as the operation of the constitution was concerned, it matters not whether the property was taken by a party of the United States, it matters not whether the property was taken by a party of the United States, it matters not whether the property was taken by a party of the United States. Mr. Littlefield next discussed the duty of the United States to protect the property of its citizens. It has been construed by the supreme court in the Worcester and Adams cases. He quoted the amendment and gave a history of the amendment, and said that slavery as it existed in the United States is not a crime. "The negro cannot be driven out of the United States," he said, "and the Philippines and the future of the Philippines. The United States has nothing to fear in an intellectual comparison." The court then concluded, and the reports of standing committees were read.

Believed to Be at Head of a Gang of Burglars.

New York, Aug. 22.—It is believed that a woman is at the head of a gang of burglars committing depredations in West Chester county recently. Burglaries were committed in three towns in the county on Tuesday night. In each case there is evidence that a woman was concerned. At Mount Vernon $5000 worth of valuables were taken from the home of Charles Barry. At this place the burglars cooked a meal before leaving, and in addition to the fact that the prints of a woman's shoes were found under the window, where the burglars entered the manner of the cooking gave evidence of a woman's skill.

Gibson Represents Manchester Ship Canal Company.

New York, Aug. 22.—In the interest of the Manchester Ship Canal company, England, Herbert M. Gibson, chief traffic representative of the company, will start for the West on Monday. Mr. Gibson will be accompanied by R. Dawson Harling, the representative of the Canadian and the North American companies in Canada and the United States. Mr. Gibson is of the opinion that the canal will be a great benefit to the trading of the trade which it will eventually secure. He is convinced that when new lines of steamships are established, the owners will not be dissatisfied with the results.

Mr. Gibson was specially commissioned by the directors of the company to visit the United States and Canada for the purpose of negotiating the terms of a new steamer line, and of organizing the trade by the existing lines. Arrangements have been made for his tour with in this country and Canada.

New York, Aug. 22.—More arrests, connection with the alleged frauds practiced by officers on western-bound Atlantic liners and in collusion, it is said, wi immigration inspectors, are likely to be made in the near future. The investigation is being conducted under the direction of Assistant Commissioner of Immigration McSweeney, and at every step it is said, the developments point to frauds extending over a very long period involving the officers on several lines steamers.

French Consul at New York Says France Will Not Go to War With Turkey Over Petty Troubles.

New York, Aug. 6.—Edwin Bruwerel the French consul general in this city, ridiculed the possibility of a war between his country and Turkey. "The trouble about it," he said, "is that we are at Constantinople. A French company built wharves there. They were to charge vessels for docking privileges, and the Turks refused to pay. The company came up to a certain fixed sum yearly. If the income from the wharves did not reach that amount, the Turkish government was to make up the difference." But the company did not reach the sum fixed and now the company wants Turkey to make good its guarantee.

"But what comes in another question? You know France has a postoffice of her own and she will not let anyone else have one."

Cripple Creek, Col., Aug. 22.—Samuel Strong, the millionaire mine owner and former proprietor of the famous Strong mine at Victor, was shot and killed today by Grant Crumley, proprietor of a saloon and gambling house. Strong and three friends were visiting the place, when Nathan S. Simpson's father-in-law, became engaged in an altercation with Crumley. Believing his father-in-law's life was endangered, Strong drew a revolver. Crumley stepped back of the bar, grasped a shotgun and discharged it at Strong's head. The millionaire fell dead and Crumley surrendered to the police.

THE DEAF TO MEET

Minnesota Association of Deaf to Hold Convention Here.

Sessions to Be at First M. E. Church Lecture Room.

Will Open Saturday Evening—An Interesting Sunday Service.

The Minnesota Association of the Deaf will hold its sixth biennial convention in Duluth, the sessions opening next Saturday evening and continuing to and including Wednesday of next week. That it will be a gathering of unusual interest goes without saying. Everyone who attends any of the sessions will find in it another and a striking evidence of the vast progress which has been made in education.

About fifty or sixty persons are expected to be at the gathering. The exact number is not known, but it will approximate that number. R. A. Mott, of Fairbault, who has been a member of the board of directors of the Fairbault institution since 1885, will be present. Jay Cooke Howard, of this city, has been president of the association since 1898.

The opening meeting will be held Saturday evening at 8:20 o'clock and it will be very interesting. Addresses will be made by Judge R. E. Mott, of Fairbault; Dr. S. P. Long, of George R. Laybourn and others. A thoroughly capable interpreter will be present to help everything will be clear to both the deaf and those who do not understand the sign language.

Sunday morning services will be held in the First Methodist church, and it will be a combined service. The sermon will be by Rev. P. J. Hascall, a deaf minister from Chicago. Dr. Long will give an address which will be interpreted for the benefit of the deaf by Mrs. Alice Noyes Smith, of Fairbault.

The hymn, "Father, Take My Hand," will be rendered by two young women. It will be a very interesting service.

Both of these meetings are for the special benefit of the public, and everyone is urged to be present.

The sessions on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be taken up with business of the association, papers, etc.

THE WORK SHE IS FINED.

Log Salvage Association's Contract Is Not Small One.

Has Already Salvaged 63,000 Pieces and Has More to Come.

Cut For Season Will Run From Five to Six Millions.

The Duluth Log Salvage association has a big contract on its hands this season and is making great progress. Secretary G. A. Potter says that the association has already salvaged 63,000 pieces and that there are still about 40,000 pieces to come. This means that the work of the association is but little over half done for the season. From the logs salvaged since the opening of the towing season, there has been a cut of something over 3,000,000 feet of lumber, at the Payson, Kimball & Barber mill in West Superior, which has the contract for sawing. The entire season's cut from the logs is estimated by Mr. Potter at from 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 feet.

This report shows the great benefit the salvage association has been to the local lumbermen this summer, for they will realize a large sum of money from the logs, many of which would have been lost had it not been for the systematized effort on the part of the association to pick them up. That the business of the association has increased wonderfully over last year can be shown by a comparison of the lumber saved last year, which was about 2,500,000 feet. More logs were salvaged last year than in the preceding season.

Capt. James Smith, who has the contract for picking up the logs, has crews working steadily on both the north and south shores in this salvage district. The district extends along the south shore to the mouth of Iron River, Wis., where the Ashland Log Salvage association begins its operations and includes the streams between Duluth and Iron river. Mr. Potter says that there are a few complaints of violation of the law regarding the picking up and appropriating of logs with a mark.

With the bad weather early in the season which caused the breaking up of so many rafts, the presence of so many logs strewn along the lake shore is readily explained.

Ferry Estelle Gets Into Trouble For Carrying Oil.

Port Collector L. M. Willcuts yesterday fined the steamer Estelle, owned by Capt. Ryan, $500 for carrying two barrels of oil while transporting passengers between the Lake avenue dock and Park Point dock. The fine was made after a report of the steamboat inspectors that the act was in violation of the law. The law decrees that no crude or refined petroleum shall be carried on freight or used as stores on any steamer carrying passengers when there is any other mode of transportation, and then only by the special permission of the government inspectors. The law also applies to loose hay, loose cotton, hemp, camphens, nitroglycerine, benzole, coal-oil or other explosive burning liquids.

The action on the part of the steamboat inspectors and the port collector was brought about by the transportation of the oil last Saturday, after strenuous objection on the part of the passengers, the ferryman insisting that it had always been carried that way and the captain of the Estelle persisting in it. The passengers and the port collector to the inspection department and the fine resulted.

As this is the first offense of the kind reported, it is expected that the treasury department, following the usual custom, will charge percentage on the fine, leaving a nominal amount to be paid. A precedent has been established, however, and the passengers on the Estelle will not be annoyed in a similar manner again.

stand the strain, although he used his head as much as his arm and put up an exceptionally fast game under the circumstances. Burns pitched after a long trip and the Fashions had no trouble with him. Then they lost their Tuesday game by errors and scattered hits. At Ashland we were reasonably sure of three of the five games. Faulk has beaten them once and can do it twice more, and O'Donnell is good for a winning game.

The Milwaukee Sentinels are a clean lot of ball players, and although they are not a team of great power, they are not excessive kickers, such as the Ashland team. Artie Douglas, their mascot, was present in the crowd and made a great many friends by his witty remarks. The grand stand occupants were unable to follow the game, but the laugh turned on themselves, no matter whether the Sentinels were winning or losing.

NEED NOT BE LARGER

Last Year's Tax Levy Is Plenty For This Year.

So Says Treasurer Voss,
Who Certainly Ought to Know.

Explains In Detail How
It Can Easily Be Done.

The tax levy for city purposes can be kept under 18 mills. Even granting necessary increases to the levy of several departments, cuts can be made in others which will bring the rate for city purposes to 17.7 mills.

That is the opinion of City Treasurer Voss, who has handled the city's finances and studied the city's needs and levies for the past fourteen years. If any person is in a position to know, he certainly should be.

In the first place, Mr. Voss says that the levy for the fire department can be done away with and the department run out of the general fund, which will be able to stand it next year for the reason that it will not be drained of about $50,000 for new sidewalks and the cure of infectious diseases, as it has during the current year. The assessments will be collected on the new sidewalks and a levy will be made over the whole county to reimburse the general fund for expenditures in checking the spread of infectious diseases.

It is estimated that the fire department would require a levy of $33,150 for next year.

The talk of increase in the levy has been occasioned largely by the increase of $33,000 for the public works fund. Take the fire department money from the general fund and use the proposed fire department levy for the public works fund, and everything is taken care of without an increase in taxation.

Mr. Voss recommends other changes which will be shown in the following comparative table of what has been recommended to the conference committee as amounts needed and what the city treasurer considers necessary:

Amounts Needed	Amounts Recommended
For interest payments, $122,532	$120,000
Sinking fund, $24,000	25,000
Fire department, $33,150	10,000
Park purposes, $11,000	10,000
Street lighting, $4,000	25,000
Water rentals, $4,000	40,000
Health department, $6,000	2,000
Public works, $119,000	120,000
Printing and supplies, $10,000	10,000
Public library, $12,000	12,000
Water and light, $12,000	12,000
Improvement fund, $24,000	25,000
General fund, $24,000	25,000

Mr. Voss also gives his estimate of an increase of $400,000 in the assessed valuation, which increases the revenue considerably. From year to year reports the assessed valuation will probably be increased $600,000.

HARD TO FIND.

Teachers Having Trouble
In Getting Cheap
Boarding Rates.

According to the reports heard to-day, the teachers in the public schools that have been accustomed to boarding and rooming in the city during the school year will have to do some tail hunting to get located this year. It is said that a large number of the boarding houses that kept teachers last year have refused to take any this year. The reason given, so far as can be learned,

Is that the teachers do not want to pay the rates asked. The regular rate of board for the city is $5 a week, and the teachers object to paying. Last year many of them would pay but $20 a month for board and the boarding house keepers say that they will not take them at this price again. They claim that the cost of living is so high that it is impossible to furnish good table board at $20 per month, and some of the ladies claim that there is not much money in boarding at $5 per week. One lady who has been in the city for many years and who is working for the same salary in an office or store pays the rate without a murmur.

A request has been made from the office of the superintendent of schools for the names and addresses of those who are willing to board teachers this year, but as yet there have not been numerous responses. Many of the teachers that are returning early to the city are on a still hunt for a place to stay and are feeling rather uneasy over the outlook.

A DEADLOCK CREATED.
Two Winners of S. F. Boyce's Pill Guessing Contest.

The jar of pills which has been standing in the window of S. F. Boyce's drug store was counted Tuesday by Roy McGonigle and found to contain 53,321 pills. A great many guesses have been made during the last two months as to the number of pills contained in the jar, and some have even gone to the extent of measuring it and computing the contents by higher mathematics. Two men guessed the number within one of the correct amount. They were Charles Lammigan and Dr. J. J. Findlay, their guess being 53,320. Mr. Boyce does not know just what to do about the matter, and so has left the decision to the two winners to settle between themselves.

The contest was inaugurated about three months ago, and the lucky person was to receive transportation to Buffalo and return, with $25 in cash with which to take the expedition.

TWO CLODBURSTS

Do Large Amount of Damage
In Tennessee.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 22.—Two clodbursts did damage and delayed trains on the Southern railway last night. One at Collinsville, Ala., deluged the tracks for several miles, ruined crops and shut off trains several hours. The other, at Hodge's station, near Knoxville, covered the street tracks at that point with four feet of water and delayed trains five hours.

DIED FROM WOUNDS.

Livingston, Mont., Aug. 22.—Andrew J. Quinn, who was stabbed in the groin during a drunken row by William Muldoon, is dead. His parents live in Indianapolis and the remains will be taken there for burial. Muldoon is in jail and claims self-defense.

CHIMNEY

Contained a Small Fortune In Money Coined Long Ago.

Woooster, Ohio, Aug. 23.—James E. Elliott, a teamster of this city, made a lucky find at his home in South Wooster, Ohio, when he was tearing down an old-fashioned chimney, built fifty or more years ago, and some across a number of coins. At the bottom there was more money. Some of it was paper, but the greater portion was silver dollars and half dollars, and five and ten-dollar gold pieces. All told, there was $100. There was in all about $100. Old residents cannot recall when any person had so much money. The house has always been occupied by people who were considered poor, and for some years stood without a tenant on account of being in bad repair.

Wilhelmshohe, Prussia, Aug. 23.—King Edward arrived here at lunch time and was met at the railway station by Emperor William in the uniform of a British admiral and the officers of the headquarters staff. The king wore the uniform of the Dragon Guards. After cordial greetings the sovereigns entered an open carriage, drawn by four horses and were driven to the castle, where they and the emperor were seated at a table, adorned with the emperors, designed by Emperor William as a present for King Edward.

JONES IMPROVES.

He Will Be Ready For His Trial.

New York, Aug. 23.—Assistant District Attorney Garvin, who has had Charles Jones in charge since the latter's attempt to suicide while in jail awaiting trial for the alleged murder of his employer, William A. Rice, the aged millionaire from Texas, says Jones is well under police surveillance and regularly visited by a physician, but that the prisoner is improving in health. He is taken out about once a week for a drive through Central park and the assistant district attorney is of the opinion that when the case is called for trial, Jones will be himself again.

IMMIGRATION FRAUDS.

Result of Investigations to Be Forwarded.

New York, Aug. 23.—No report concerning the investigation of alleged immigration frauds will be given out by the officials until the work is completed. Thomas Fitchie, commissioner of immigration was in the city yesterday. He approved the work that has so far been done. It is understood that officials of cities will be asked to trace up people suspected of getting into this country without having passed the regular inspection. If it can be proven that they were passed as a result of supposed fraud they will be sent home.

BEET SUGAR.

British Consul Reports on Its Production In America.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The growing belief that the United States will shortly be able to produce from beets the $100,000,000 worth of sugar which her people now annually import seems to be shared by British Consul Wynham, who has given the subject close attention and reported upon it to his government. The following is an extract from his report which has just reached the treasury department:

"The production of beet sugar in the United States is rapidly increasing. In the Chicago consular district there are four factories in the state of Illinois, three in Nebraska and three in Colorado. Those in Nebraska and Colorado belong to the Rocky Mountain Beet Sugar company, at Grand Junction, Rocky Ford and Sugar City. The latter two employ thousands of hands.

"Statistics indicate that the United States consumes more sugar than any other nation, or approximately one-quarter of the whole of the world's product. The conditions of soil, climate and other advantages are quite as good in the United States, and especially in Colorado, Nebraska and Illinois, for the development of the beet as in any of the countries of Europe or Asia. The world's production and consumption of sugar is now about 3,500,000 tons per annum, two-thirds of which is produced from beet and only one-third from cane, whilst the normal consumption is estimated as increasing at the rate of 200,000 tons yearly.

"The success attending the cultivation of sugar beet in this district has proved that it may be made a profitable and successful investment. A large factory has been built at Rocky Ford, Colorado, which cost $200,000 to build and equip. It is proposed to have it ready for the crop of the coming season. To supply it to the farmers in the vicinity have contracted to grow 500 acres of beets a year for two years. From tests made, they estimate their beets will yield 15 to 18 per cent of sugar. The factory, when running at its full capacity, will consume daily 100 tons of beets, which will convert into about 100 tons of refined sugar of the highest purity. The beets reach maturity with a high percentage, and seldom go below 15 per cent; 12 per cent is taken as the basis of buying beets at the factory.

"The beets are grown by the farmers under contract with the factory, and paid for according to the percentage determined by chemical tests made of samples taken from the wagons at the time of delivery. In addition, the factory controls about 500 acres of land. Most of the land will be farmed by tenants, but only a portion of each farm is devoted to the growing of beets. The remainder is used for other crops. The beets raised upon the sugar contents. The tests somewhat resemble the assaying of ore from the mines. Selling upon his basis encourages better farming and the raising of better beets. It is the only fair way, both to the raiser and manufacturer.

"At Sugar City, a farm of 12,000 acres is devoted to the growing of beets, and a sugar factory has been built with a capacity of 50 tons every twenty-four hours. On the farm 100 men and women have been employed during the summer, and the factory is now in operation. The establishment is a but a few years ago consisted of a but a few and thousands of prairie land. Next year fifty acres of beets will be in cultivation. The output will be increased as the season progresses and the demand for workmen is increasing.

"A general estimate of the cost of production of beet sugar and general results to be obtained from beet sugar factories in this district as taken from the Rocky Ford plant places the general average of sugar in the beets at 12 per cent, while the maximum has reached 22 per cent with a coefficient of purity ranging from 80 to 95 per cent. In statistics, reference is especially made to the factory at Rocky Ford, built and worked by the American Beet Sugar company, a New York corporation, which works two factories in California and three in Nebraska, 100 acres at Rocky Ford, being their fifth. The experts in charge of this last factory express surprise at the results of this first campaign, and they have been thoroughly convinced that this valley (Arkansas valley, Colorado) is the ideal sugar-producing bank to its equable climate, ample supply of water for irrigation, cheap fuel and limestone, and an unlimited extent of available land for beet culture. It is expected that the same company will erect one or more factories in addition to the one at Rocky Ford, one to be built further east and the other west of Rocky Ford.

"As an example of the quality of the sugar beets produced upon this land, it may be mentioned that so far six car loads of beets from one field have been tested with results as follows: One car load, 15.5 per cent; three car loads, 18.5 per cent, and two car loads, 20.4 per cent."

FRIENDLY RELATIONS.

Are Desired By King Edward and Czar.

New York, Aug. 23.—The report that King Edward and the czar will meet at Copenhagen, says the London correspondent of the Tribune, indicates a disposition on their part to establish the same friendly relations between the sovereigns of the two countries which existed when Victoria was living. Relations between the German and the English royal families have already been close as possible, although the gossip, apparently without authority, are striving to make a match between the German crown prince and some English princess.

HEALTH BROKEN

And Fortune Gone Is Condition of William Belvin.

He Was Well Known at the New York Hotels.

Has Prominently Figured In Several Sensational Episodes.

New York, Aug. 23.—Giving his name as William Belvin, and his "best friend" as James R. Keene, a well-dressed man entered Bellevue hospital and asked for medical treatment. When asked for his address he hesitated and then said he had no home. He gave Mr. Keene's business address as No. 30 Broad street. He was evidently in very poor health, but was well dressed and apparently prosperous.

William Wayne Belvin has figured extensively in the newspapers during the last ten years. He was a patron of all of the best hotels at various times, and on several occasions was arrested for creating disturbances. He is a son of John A. Belvin, who was a wealthy merchant in Richmond, Va., and who died ten or twelve years ago, leaving five children, of whom William is the youngest. The estate was tied up in such a way that the children could not dispose of it, but each had a handsome income.

Going to San Francisco soon after his father's death, Belvin met and married Miss Rebecca McMillin, daughter of a wealthy mining man of the West. The marriage was not happy and Mrs. Belvin came to this city in 1895 and sued for divorce. At that time Belvin was arrested for the murder of David H. Moffatt, a wealthy Westerner, who was shot by Col. James McNaught, his wife's lawyer. The quarrel was patched up and Mrs. Belvin obtained a divorce.

Belvin was arrested in front of the Olney house in 1899 by a detective attached to the Waldorf-Astoria on a charge of not paying a hotel bill amounting to $163. When he was arrested in the Jaffers Market police court it was learned that there was more behind the arrest than the mere refusal to pay his hotel bill. David H. Moffatt, a wealthy Westerner, who had just returned from Europe where he had taken as a companion a friend employed in the Fifth Avenue hotel, made the Waldorf-Astoria his home. Belvin asserted that Moffatt owed him $400.00 and that he had been refused payment. He was accused of writing threatening letters to the wealthy miner and in other ways annoying him, and it was said that it was to stop the annoyance that he was arrested.

For many years Belvin was well known in the Tenderloin and the hotel district. He is a man of about 45 years of age, five feet tall, and was always dressed in the height of fashion and appeared to have plenty of money, which he spent freely. He rarely remained in any one hotel very long, but was known and was welcomed in all of them. He was hard hit, it is said, in a wheat speculation in which he is reported to have lost $250,000. It is understood that he is still in receipt of a small income from the estate of his father, but that the bulk of his share he lost in speculation here and in mining ventures in the West.

At Mr. Keene's office it was said that the use of his name by Belvin was a broken several years ago he was known to Mr. Keene as one broke known in Wall street, but he had no right, it was said, to give Mr. Keene's name as that of his "friend." Belvin has not been seen about Broadway hotels for a long time, and it was not known that he was in town.

ORE TRADE.

Small Lot Trade at Prices Fixed Early In Season.

Cleveland, Aug. 23.—The Iron Trade Review says: The ore trade is without incident except that the continued small lot trade at prices established early in the season. Some options on considerable quantities of iron ore are being sold. Whether the buyers will have light enough on the steel strike to enable them to close Colorado is a question. The banking of furnaces at New Castle, Pa., and recently in the Wheeling district holds up enough direct shipments of ore to aggravate the situation. The degree of the bad dock conditions at Lake Erie ports, the delays due to car shortage and to the limited dock space for ore storage have been more marked in the past two weeks and it is now certain that the ore movement in August will fall quite a little below that of July.

ATHLETES THRIVE.

Boston, Aug. 23.—The Oxford-Cambridge athletes, who crossed the ocean on the steamer Commonwealth to compete with the Canadians at Montreal, Sept. 14, and with a team of Yale and Harvard men at New York, Sept. 21, are here today. They were escorted to their hotel and tomorrow will go to Montreal.

AT WEST DULUTH

Capt. Mann has not taken to the woods, and he has no intention of doing so. The hale old mariner is still pacing the quarter-deck of the steamer Mary Mann. The captain has weathered too many boisterous gales during his long career as a seaman to give much heed to the slight breeze which was created by a few passengers who suffered some discomfort—through no fault of his—while aboard his boat. When the Mary Mann ran aground Wednesday night the captain was not at the wheel, but was aboard the scow which was in tow, collecting fares. The wheel was temporarily in charge of one of the men who are regularly employed on the boat. The incident has brought out the fact that there are no government buoys or lights in that part of the harbor where the accident occurred. It is necessary for a boat to feel its way carefully in the narrow channel, day or night, and as the night was very dark, the grounding of the vessel is not much to be wondered at. There were several tugs in the immediate vicinity and they heard the signals of distress, but owing to the inky blackness of the night and the narrowness of the channel, they were not willing to assume the dangerous task of pulling the boat off the clay bank until the dawn of day.

At the time the boat went aground, she was proceeding at a very low rate of speed and every precaution had been observed. The members of the Workmen lodges, who had charge of the picnic, are perfectly satisfied with the efforts made to look after the comfort of those who were delayed in reaching their homes. They say that he left nothing undone which it was within his power to accomplish.

AN ARREST MADE.
Olson Johnson yesterday arrested Sam Olson, whom it is alleged is responsible for the breaking of the plate glass window in the feed store kept by Mrs. Beckman on Grand avenue. The glass was broken on Wednesday, and it is said that witnesses will appear who will testify that Olson, who was intoxicated at the time of the occurrence, is the guilty party. Olson will have to answer to a charge of malicious destruction of property and will probably be given a hearing today. It is said that Olson has offered to pay for the glass, which was worth about $40.

SLIGHTLY INJURED.
Alexander Shaw, an employee at the Duncan & Brewer mill, was painfully injured last night by the bursting of a saw. One of the flying pieces struck Mr. Shaw on the left ankle and cut through a tendon to the bone. Mr. Shaw's wound was dressed by Dr. Graham. It is not a very serious affair and the injured man will probably be off duty only about two weeks.

WITNESS NOT THERE.

Anthony Johnson appeared in the office of the justice of the peace at Proctorville, yesterday, to answer to a charge of assault and battery preferred against him by August Peterson. The complaining witness did not appear and the case was dismissed. It is said that Peterson will swear out another warrant against his neighbor Johnson and the case will be heard at the municipal court in Duluth.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

The 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Roberts died this morning at their home, 410 Fifty-fifth avenue west. The cause of the child's demise was cholera infantum. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

A Zoological Garden.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is desired to call the attention of all interested in the growth of the city, and especially along the line of amusement and instruction for the children, to a proposition regarding the possibility of a zoological garden in the city. In all probability it will be many years before Duluth is able to own a zoo, but if thought for the best interests of the younger citizens, it is now possible to secure for them the chance of seeing and studying some of our native fauna. The city is justly proud of its museum, and the fine collection of mounted animals which proves such an attraction to both children and grown people, but after all, live animals are better than dead ones.

The traveling menagerie now at Lester Park could be kept as a permanent institution, if the city would donate the use of a suitable spot of ground in one of the parks. The menagerie is a well-kept feature of the parks in all our large cities, and it is a pleasure to see the children, and even the question arises, whether it would not be best to retain this one if possible.

The collection now includes such species as bear, lynx, racoon, badger, porcupine, marten, etc., and it is the intention of the owner to add to the collection many more.

This would cost the city nothing, and with the aid of the menagerie, and a source of pleasure to the public, would this not be a good use for our money?

RESPECTFULLY,
CURATOR MARINE DEPARTMENT OF MUSEUM,

THE BRICK ARRIVES

Eleven of the Delayed Cars Finally Turn Up.

Work Is Resumed After Delay of Twenty-Four Hours.

Street Railway Company May Have Track Laid Monday.

The arrival of eleven of the twenty-nine lost cars of brick enabled the contractor to resume the paving of Superior street this afternoon. As soon as the brick was received it was hustled out of the cars and the work was not delayed over twenty-four hours.

The street car company is now commencing its new track between Sixth and Seventh avenues west and will probably have it all in by Monday. The company this morning began putting in the Y at Third avenue west and Superior street. This Y will not be a point of destination, so that cars will not be switching there regularly, but it is being put in so that cars can turn back and catch up with their schedule when behind time.

Sum Is Growing.

Over $150 has already been raised on the guarantee fund for the high school team, which was started Tuesday evening, the boys doing their first real work on the matter this morning. A very successful practice was held yesterday afternoon. Several new candidates have been brought out for the team, one of whom is making a heavy showing for guard.

WRESTLING MATCH.

Turk Is Matched Against Rooney of Chicago.

Articles were signed today for a wrestling match between Moudoulah, the Turk, and Rooney, of Chicago. The match will take place at the Armory next Friday evening and considerable interest is manifested in sporting circles.

It will be two falls out of three, catch-as-catch-can. No holds barred and time limit, ten minutes.

While Moudoulah is a powerful wrestler, the local talent figures that he can not win against a man like Rooney. Rooney is also the only American wrestler that ever threw Hall-Adair, the great Turk that wrestled in this city about two years ago.

All the Moudoulah manager, Rooney, has to say of the match is that he will be on hand to see that the match is a fair one and that the two men are very evenly matched.

Exposition Travel.

The travel from the Northwest to the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo has been very good this summer, but the railroad companies are expecting to do the heaviest business to Buffalo during the coming two months. Many people have been waiting until September and October to visit the exposition, believing that they can enjoy themselves with the cooler fall weather in the East, and the hope of better rates on the transportation line.

Board For Teachers.

To the Editor of The Herald: In last night's Herald is an article stating that teachers will probably have difficulty in finding board this coming year. One landlady is quoted as saying that teachers receiving from $35 to $65 a month are not willing to pay the same price for board as young men having the same salary.

To be fair to the teachers, it should be understood that they receive pay for only nine months, and have to pay for board, clothing, and usually traveling expenses, for twelve months; while the young men have twelve months' salary with which to do the same. The young man can better afford to pay a higher price for board than the teacher.

It may be true that the cost of living is high, but it is impossible to find a good board at $20 a month; but, if the comparison between salaries is made on the true basis, the reason why teachers must look for cheap board is plain.

Pollinsky of the Bowery Is In Trouble.

Albert H. Pollinsky, a Bowery merchant, was arrested late this afternoon much to the gratification of the police. At police headquarters it is said that Pollinsky is more trouble than all the rest of the Bowery. Yesterday afternoon Swan A. Olson, one of the street laborers let out by the board of public works for want of funds, went to Pollinsky's store to buy a pair of shoes. He had just drawn his check from the city for $35.20.

He bought the shoes for $1.50 and Mr. Pollinsky only returned $32.40. Mr. Olson demanded an additional $1.30 and was promptly thrown out of the store. He went to the city hall with the intention of having the Bowery man arrested for petty larceny, but it was finally decided to bring action for assault. Capt. Resche says this is a rather common occurrence in Pollinsky's place. The other day a man went in the store and started out again without making a purchase. He told Pollinsky that he threw a pair of trousers over his head and then smashed him in the face.

Three Thousand Foresters at Lester Park.

It is estimated that about 3000 people attended the Foresters' annual picnic at Lester Park yesterday. It was a very large and successful event and everybody appeared to enjoy themselves. Des Moines, Aug. 23.—A state convention of Populists met here today to place a full ticket in the field. Not to exceed fifty delegates were present. Farmer Congressman Weller, of Nashua, probably will be the nominee for governor.

The platform will affirm the principles laid down in Omaha and subsequent platforms, declaring for paper money and cottage of only enough silver to meet ordinary demands for coin, and asking for the abolishment of the offices of state printer and binder.

It is improbable that the silver question will come up in any way.

SAVED BY SHERIFF

Negro Rapist Was Successfully Protected From the Mob.

One Man Killed and Another Fatally Wounded In Melee.

The Negro Found Guilty and Will Be Legally Hanged.

Asheville, Ala., Aug. 22.—One man was killed and another probably fatally wounded in a battle here yesterday to save the negro, Jim Brown, from the vengeance of a mob after he had been tried and sentenced to be hanged on September 20 for rape.

The killed:

WALTER BLANKENSHIP.

The wounded: Arthur Blankenship. A small boy, the son of James Hanley, slightly wounded.

The Blankenships were brothers, and it is said have been in town since Monday, trying to stir up the trouble. Walter died within two hours after being shot, and Arthur is in a precarious condition.

The attempt of the mob to gain possession of the negro followed one of the swiftest and fiercest trials ever witnessed.

The judge and court officials were on the defensive to suppress the rising anger of the crowd as detail after detail of the crime was told by the witnesses for the state. There was no evidence for the defense. As Brown said afterwards in his confession, there was nothing the witnesses he could summon could say in his behalf.

The clash with the sheriff came in half an hour after Judge Pelham had pronounced the sentence. By a ruse the court room was cleared of half of its angry occupants. The remaining half was hurly and seemed bent on mischief.

FIGHT A DRAW

Close Contest Between Beauschalte and Arnold

Near Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Aug. 22.—The glove contest between Jack Beauschalte, of Chicago, and James Arnold, of this city, which was stopped Wednesday night by Deputy Sheriff Bates, was carried out before the Hibbing Athletic club and its guests yesterday afternoon.

The club chartered a train and went over to the Duluth, Missabe and Western road ten miles west of here to Libby's logging camp in Itasca county.

The arrangement was a fifteen round fight in the open. Time was called at 6:13 and there were fifteen hot rounds fought.

Hervey Madden declared the contest a draw, though Arnold had the better of the game all the way through. Beauschalte confidently expected to put Arnold rambling in seven or eight rounds as he did at Houghton in May last, but found a far different man, and in the eighth round Beauschalte himself was getting decidedly the worst of the fight.

He came up good in the tenth and from that on it was give and take game. At the end of the fifteenth Arnold was apparently as fresh as at the start, while the Chicago man was visibly distressed. Arnold could not get away from Beauschalte's left, but the blows had no apparent effect on the Hibbing lad.

Arnold and his backers were willing to go five rounds more, despite the gathering darkness, but Beauschalte's manager would not entertain the proposition.

There are all kinds of Arnold money and the athletic club is trying to arrange for a finish fight to be held in a reasonable time.

CROSSING

OF TROUT

New Varieties Being Propagated at State Fish Hatchery.

Native Brook Trout

Crossed With Loch Lomond Trout.

Latter Come From Scotland—Gamey Fish the Result.

The trout fishermen of this section will be much interested in knowing that an effort is being made to have cross-bred trout supplant the native article in Minnesota, according to Sam. E. Fullerton, the executive agent of the state game and fish commission, six years ago, at the state fish hatchery at Indian Mounds Park, St. Paul, the experiment was tried of crossing the native brook trout with the Loch Lomond trout, imported from Scotland. The cross bred resembled the Scotch variety, retaining the brown spots, but proved twice as gamey as either of its progenitors.

"When we feed them at the hatchery," says Mr. Fullerton, "they will jump from the water, sometimes two feet. They are a great game fish. We kept the crosses for breeding, and have stocked many trout streams with them in Winona, Houston, Fillmore and St. Louis counties. We set the same traps rapidly, and prove the finest kind of fish for sport. We will not do away with the native trout entirely, but are working into the cross bred as far as we can."

Rainbow trout are not popular, and will be dropped by the hatchery. They are gamey enough, but poor eating compared to the other varieties.

Another cross bred was tried several years ago. The Lake Superior trout and common brook trout were crossed. The result was a handsome fish, large Difference Between Normal Board and Board of Control.

St. Paul, Aug. 22.—State Auditor Dunn yesterday afternoon announced that he would not recognize the state normal school board in that body's fight against the state board of control, since the normal board had once announced acquiescence in the supervision of the board of control and could not now set its action.

It is believed this decision of the state auditor will bring the difference between the two bodies to a head, and possibly give ground for taking the matter into the courts. When the new board of control was formed, it was found on a residence street within three blocks of his home. He was shot in the breast, and there were marks of a struggle, Mr.

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Young John Hawkes Instantly Killed Near Sucker River.

Accidental Discharge of Robert Smith's Rifle Caused Fatality.

The Boys Were Close Friends and Were Camping There.

There was a sad, fatal shooting accident near the mouth of Sucker river yesterday afternoon.

John Hawkes, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Hawkes, of 1913 Jefferson street, was killed by the accidental discharge of Robert Smith's gun.

The two boys had been inseparable companions for ten years. They recently went out camping on Sucker river, each taking a small 22-caliber rifle.

Yesterday afternoon while following the banks of the stream down toward Lake Superior, a jack rabbit started out through the underbrush. Boyish-like, both shot. The rabbit, which darted back through the bushes, the boys ran along the path at the edge of the stream to get another shot when the rabbit emerged from the bushes again.

John Hawkes reached the opposite side of the stream first. He stood in the opening carefully scanning the banks of the stream, when his playmate came running along the narrow path.

Within a few feet of the clearing Robert Smith tripped on a small log and his fall discharged the gun.

Simultaneously with the report of the rifle young Hawkes fell to the ground and the corner of the right shoulder blade, and took a diagonal course across the body, severing a large blood vessel close to the heart.

Young Smith was very quick to comprehend the situation. He ran to the home of Henry Kirk, close by, and summoned help. By the time the members of the Kirk family reached the scene of the accident, however, young Hawkes had ceased to breathe.

Fred Postal and Robert Smith took a buggy and drove in to Lester Park, a distance of about ten miles. Coroner Boyer was notified and last evening he and Mr. Hawkes drove out to Sucker river for the body, returning with it at 4 o'clock this morning.

Robert Smith, the boy who did the accidental shooting, is about 12 years of age and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chan Smith, of 2011 East Fourth street.

The young boy is almost prostrated with grief. Since he was 3 years of age he has been the companion and playmate of the boy he accidentally shot.

The body of the dead boy was first taken to Durkan & Crawford's undertaking rooms and later removed to the Hawkes on Jefferson street.

At noon today the arrangements for the funeral had not been announced.

A SAD CASE.

Philip Woolfrom's Mind Refuses to Rally From Shock.

Louise Woolfrom has received word that her son, Philip Woolfrom, who has been in the insane ward at Bellevue hospital for some time, is threatened with mania and is in a precarious condition. The case is a remarkably sad one. The young man is a sculptor and had already achieved considerable distinction. A bright future was predicted for him and he had located in New York and was following his profession. After he destroyed his studio and all of its precious contents and the sensitive nature of the artist was so surely affected that his mind gave way. At first it was believed that he would rally from the shock and gradually recover his mind but the shock was a deeper one than was supposed and he has become a permanent case.

If possibly should result the physicians do not believe he will last long. His sister, Miss Louise Woolfrom, who lives in New York and visits him regularly and if there is no improvement very soon, Mr. Woolfrom, his father, will go on to New York.

FELL FROM DOCK.

Frank Kominski Drowned at West Superior.

Frank Kominski was drowned by falling from the coal dock of the Youghiogheny and Lehigh company at West Superior yesterday. Kominski was one of a gang of men who were engaged in unloading a vessel, and as he was missed during the afternoon an investigation was started. Late in the afternoon a boy rowing in the vicinity of the dock found the missing man's hat floating on the water. The search was then prosecuted with renewed vigor, but it was after 7 o'clock before the body was found, and the remains were taken to Coroner Dudley's undertaking rooms. There were no witnesses to the accident which resulted in Kominski's death, but it is supposed that he lost his balance and fell into the water. The deceased was about 23 years of age and had been a resident of the United States for five years. He had lived in Superior since the first of the year, and his only known relatives are at Nebagamon, Wis.

COAL TO ADVANCE

Twenty-Five Cents More to Be Added September 1.

No Notice Received Yet But It Is Almost Certain.

Receipts of Hard Coal Are Light—Talk of Shortage.

The indications are pretty strong that the price of hard coal will advance another 25 cents on the first of September, and after that date that it will be selling for $7.25 for the net, egg and stove varieties. Pea coal, which is now selling for $6, is expected to go up to $6.25. None of the coal dealers have received notice from the coal companies as to this prospective rise in prices, but it is said that most of them are looking for it, and besides, notice of such advances are never given until a few days before the beginning of a new month.

The last advance in the price of anthracite coal took place two months ago, at which time it went up 25 cents. The demand, which has been light all summer, is picking up a little now, and many people that have the space available, and the money to spend, are hustling to get in their winter supply before the September advance. Many people do not care to look up to $6.25 for the net, egg and stove varieties, and the advances of 25 and 50 cents makes little difference to them when they have but two or three to buy. It is the large interests that begin to get uneasy when an advance in prices is talked about.

Even at $7.25 per ton, the dealers say that hard coal is cheaper at the head of the lakes than in the Twin Cities, where the coal consumers have to pay quite a percentage in freight. The $7.25 freight rate on the coal from Duluth to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Hard coal is very low, lower than it has been for some years during the closing summer months. This information does not come from any of the coal dealers who would try to influence the market locally, but from persons whose business it is to keep an estimate of coal stocks for private corporations. The usual proportion of hard and soft coal that is usually kept on the docks here is three-fourths soft coal to one-fourth hard coal, but this season it is claimed that the proportion would be much nearer four-fifths and one-fifth. Of course, the coal companies say that they can easily rush hard coal to the head of the lakes if the situation were such as to demand it, but with many it is a question if they would do so. A feeling is getting widespread that the coal companies are planning to get a hard coal shortage here at the opening of the winter season and force prices away up. This they can do, for they have control of the situation. If freight rates on coal from the East are almost prohibitive, and, by withholding hard coal shipments for a while, the fuel situation for the people of the head of the lakes could be made to appear in a serious light.

Estimates on the total coal stocks on the docks at the head of the lakes at the present time are various. While the representatives of the different companies doubtless have information as to the correct figures, it would be a difficult matter to induce them to give up that information. They are willing to estimate, however. One coal man said the other day that a conservative estimate of the present stock of both hard and soft coal would be 500,000 tons, and that probably the stocks would run over that amount.

the "gondolas," but nearly all the commercial coal is shipped in boxcars. If there is a coal shortage here this winter it will not be on account of dock space, for there has been considerable dock extension since last season, both in completed docks and some that are rapidly nearing completion.

The head of the lake is not used much as a coaling station for the large lake steamers, which get their supply from below before starting on the trip to Duluth, but all the local boats, the north and south shore freight and passenger steamers, and the long list of tugboats are patrons of the local coal docks. The amount that is consumed by the steamers and tugs in a season foots up to a large figure.

INTERESTING CASE.
Suit of Buffalo Interesting to Grain Shippers.

A decision has just been made in a case at Buffalo which is of considerable interest to shippers of grain from this point. Spencer Kellogg, the big dock dealer at Buffalo, who has offices on the Duluth board, is the plaintiff, and his action, while directed against the Lehigh Valley railroad, was against the Western Elevating association, or the "pool," as it is generally known. Mr. Kellogg in his suit charged the railroads with having an agreement with the association of elevator men under which they ship their grain at rates cheaper than they will grant to any one outside of the pool. Spencer Kellogg was outside of the pool, and when he had occasion to ship grain to New York from Buffalo, was made to pay 2 1/2 cents a bushel, while the price to the pool was 2 1/4 cents.

He paid the rate and brought suit, charging discrimination and asking judgment for the difference in the rate. The railroad maintained that the elevator system was part of its system of handling grain and that it was justified in charging persons who do not take advantage of its facilities more than those who do.

The decision of the court is in favor of Spencer Kellogg for the full amount claimed and the costs of the suit. Kellogg is claiming that the railroad had discriminated. The railroad company will appeal the case.

LIKES BRICK PAVING.
F. W. Maynard Thinks It Is Excellent.

Fred W. Maynard, of Chicago, and for several years a resident of Duluth, was in the city for two or three days during this week, and in speaking of the paving operations now under way here, he predicted that Duluth would be entirely satisfied with the brick pavement.

He said the man who lives next door to me in Chicago owns an automobile, said Mr. Maynard. We find that the earliest and most satisfactory riding is on the brick pavement, and we take them in preference to any other.

AMUSEMENTS.

IS AT LARGE.
John McNamara, Wanted For Murder, Seen In Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Aug. 23.—John McNamara, who is wanted at Lexington, Ky., on the charge of murder, and for whose arrest a reward of $500 is offered, has been within the reach of the Cincinnati police department for several weeks. The fugitive, with a careless disregard of his own safety and liberty, located here several weeks ago and is now employed by a town team. Information to this effect was lodged with the police yesterday by a man who lives within the town of Buffalo, who claims that he has a personal acquaintance with McNamara. He alleges that he has not the murderer on the streets several times and that he has shaken hands with him on each occasion. If the story of the informant is true, then McNamara exhibits a species of daring that rightfully is associated with desperadoes who take 5-cent novels, as not 100 miles intervene between himself and the authorities of Lexington, where he is so badly wanted.

McNamara's crime was one of the most cold blooded in the annals of Lexington criminology. A year or so ago McNamara was walking up one of the principal streets of that city, Jacob Keller being close behind him. The latter accidentally trod on McNamara's heels. Keller begged the latter's pardon. McNamara responded by shooting Keller down like a dog. He was arrested and was released on a $500 bond. The procedure raised a storm of indignation and McNamara was rearrested. He was promptly released on a bond of $1000, which was furnished by his mother. McNamara jumped this bond and disappeared. A reward of $500 was offered for his arrest, but the law, returned to Lexington at intervals. He then disappeared, since which time his trail has been lost. There were 2000 cattle in the bunch. Several snap him with the fatal result. McNamara, a big fellow, was seen to be a big fellow. He saw that he could swim the cattle, so decided not to wait for the boat's return.

GET JOBS.
More Deputy Grain Inspectors Named By the Commission.

St. Paul, Aug. 23.—The railroad and warehouse commission has approved the recommendations made by Chief Grain Inspector Marshall for the appointment of additional deputy grain inspectors, and the promotion of a number of the present employees of the department. The board has approved the appointment of the following:

SAVED A CHILD.
Plucky Action of a Spokane School Teacher.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 23.—Caroline Mackey, a local school teacher, risked her life yesterday in rescuing a drowning child. A large canoe was taking a bath in the Spokane river, and was on the point of capsizing when a young boy, who had been playing in the water, was seen to be in danger. The teacher, who was on the bank, saw the danger and immediately rushed to the rescue. She managed to grab the boy just as he was about to go under, and pulled him to safety. The child was uninjured, and the teacher's plucky action has won her much praise.

THE DAKOTAS.

Two Thousand Cattle Swim the Missouri River.

SOUTH DAKOTA.
Evarts—a sight which was new to most of the people in this town was witnessed Thursday by about the whole population. "Scotty" Philip, who shipped in sixty-one jumping jacks, was seen to swim across the river today.

Further investigation of the results of the fire reveals a complete destruction of the building. The contents: Drug store of George Baker, Dr. Hugo Miller, in new building, lost his entire medical library, instruments and X-ray apparatus, valued at $100. The contents of the hardware store of S. S. Lawrence, drug store of Dr. R. E. Lawrence, and the contents of the bank, were fairly insured, the Citizens' bank is a wreck with many things standing. The vault was uninjured, and the owners re-opened business in the adjoining block.

Huron—Tuesday evening's train brought to the city a crowd of landseekers. The fire started at midnight in the rear of Lawrence's hardware store. Origin is unknown. Only by the most skillful and strenuous efforts of the men at the hose was the remainder of the block saved, and without the assistance well the town would have been at the mercy of the flames.

Deadwood—A search is being made for a young man named George Croft, who is wanted by relatives at Kansas City, Mo. He was last seen here coming in on the Black Hills. His father recently died, leaving him $10,000.

Bismarck—A. D. Clarke, an Algonquin, Iowa capitalist, has made one of the largest real estate deals recorded in this state. He has purchased 40,000 acres of land from the Northern Pacific railroad. The land is in North Dakota, just across the river from Bismarck. It is a valuable piece of land, and it was granted to the railroad. Mr. Clarke expects to make thousands of dollars from his speculation. The land is excellent for stock raising.

FREAK WAGER.

Quality of Certain Bricks Is the Subject.

Great Falls, Mont., Aug. 23.—A bet was recently made in Great Falls due to a controversy as to the quality of bricks produced by a certain yard. The proprietor and a contractor, himself a graduate brick mason, got into a discussion, and as a result a bet of $1000 was made. The builder maintained that the brick would not sustain a column of 20 feet. He is to undertake the construction of a stack, and after it reaches a height that ordinary workmen refuse to continue on the structure, he will continue it up till something gives way. If the thing falls before it reaches 20 feet, he wins. Otherwise he loses. The stack is to be six and a half brick square at the base with a square one-foot rise up which the brick will be conveyed. The builder agrees to continue the stack until it falls, to be on the thing when it gives way, and bets an additional $1000 if he is not hurt in the collapse. The loser is to pay for the bricks.

PEACHES AND POTATOES.
The Fruit Now Cheaper Than the Tubers.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Peaches are now cheaper than home-grown potatoes on South Wacker street. The price of the tubers reached $2 a bushel yesterday. The unusual condition of the peaches being cheaper than potatoes is caused principally by a partial failure of the potato crop in the South. Southwest and West, where whole sections of country depend in a measure on the Chicago market for their supply. Farmers in the Northwest are credited with holding off in their shipments, so that the present situation amounts almost to a potato famine.

Early in June potatoes reached $1.90 a bushel, said a prominent commission merchant as to the price of the crop. The price only lasted a few days, and prices dropped to 90 cents in a week. The only thing that makes the present local situation bearable is the fact that the peaches and other fruits and vegetables are plentiful and cheap.

A LARGE INCREASE

In the Next River and Harbor Bill Is Expected.

Death of the Last Bill Crippled Some Improvements.

Total of Committee's Measure May Reach Forty Millions.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Aug. 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The people in various sections of the United States where appropriations are required for waterway improvements are just now in doubt as to what the next session of congress will do regarding the passage of a bill next winter. It is a well-known fact that Senator Carter of Montana, who introduced the passage of a river and harbor bill at the last session of congress. It is presumed by those who are acquainted with Mr. Carter that he did not take the course he did to save the government any money, but because he was unable to get through a measure in which he was interested during the closing hours of the last congress. It is maintained that the failure to pass a river and harbor bill at the last session of congress, though something like $20,000,000 was called for, and as the measure died in the senate because of Mr. Carter's lengthy speech, will not in the end save the United States any money.

The recent trip of the majority of the members of the river and harbor committee of the last congress to the South and far West has convinced nearly every congressman who took the trip, and who will serve in the next house, that the appropriations in the forthcoming river and harbor bill will have to be so greatly increased that it will be folly to defeat the measure at the last session.

Senator Carter, who now heads the Louisiana exposition commission at a salary of $3000 per annum, was given a great deal of credit by the so-called reform newspapers of the country because he finally prevented the passage of the river and harbor bill March 3 last. Future congresses, however, will undoubtedly convince the editors of these reform newspapers that the measure that it was an unwise move to have this bill killed in the last congress. The reasons why this situation exists are due to the fact that the death of the bill in the Fifty-sixth session has crippled the improvements on the great waterway projects. This is particularly true on the West coast, on the great lakes and in the far South.

The congressmen who made the journey to investigate as to what should be done with the improvements already under way returned two or three weeks ago, and since that time every one who made the trip is expressing the view privately and for public consumption that the country will probably lose money by the failure of the appropriations for waterway improvements.

Loses "Girlie" and Is Charged With Abandoning His Wife.

Cincinnati, Aug. 23.—"Will troubles never cease?" is the plaint of William James Downes, a well-known actor, who is now in the city of Cincinnati. Allen feels as if the whole world is full of trouble for him. Having lost a valuable dog in a catch-as-catch-can fight with his wife, he is now under arrest as a fugitive.

Allen is the actor who came to the city a few days ago, accompanied by a little dog, Girlie by name, and a woman, who he claimed to be his wife. A short time after the wife appeared, and began to make things interesting for her husband. Finding the police could not assist her, she took matters into her own hands, and secured possession of the dog and Allen, and then fled with them to the city of Cincinnati.

Allen is now in the city of Cincinnati, and is being held in custody by the police. He is charged with abandoning his wife and child.

SAW TOWN.

An Ontario Methodist Minister Goes Astray In Syracuse.

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 23.—The Rev. David Sanderson, a well-known Methodist clergyman, of Almont, Ont., a thoroughly respectable-looking man, was arrested yesterday morning on the charge of intoxication and disturbance in a disorderly house in East Washington street. Later he was arranged in police court.

Sanderson said he was on his way to Buffalo with Rev. Foster McGannon, both having been granted a vacation by their churches. The two, he said, started out for a walk, and Sanderson got separated from his friend about midnight. He then met two men on the street and visited a saloon with them. He drank something, he thought it was ginger ale, and he remembered but little after that. He was then taken to a saloon and left there. Finally he found that the man had gone, and complained to a policeman.

The Ashley woman, who was also arrested with Sanderson, told a different story. She claimed that the two clergymen met her and went into a saloon and drank with her. She said the clergymen were very drunk, and she was also drunk. Later in the night Sanderson came to her house, and was drunk. She was also drunk, and she was with him when he was arrested.

Police Justice Thompson was very much surprised over the arrest of the ministers, and told them that as it was a case of religion, he would let them go. The Rev. Foster McGannon said: "I have known my friend for twenty years, and never knew him to take any thing intoxicating, and don't know what he possessed him this time. This means much to him and his flock, and it does me, too, and I hope we will be forgiven."

A dispatch from Almont says that the Rev. David Sanderson is pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church there and is well known and respected.

OFFICIALS SURPRISED.

Why a Man Declined a $660 Position.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The officers of the treasury department Tuesday had a strange experience. A few months ago, in making a selection from one of the eligible registers of bookkeepers for the civil service commission their attention was attracted by the name of Mr. Ritchie, a native of the state of Georgia, and as they were so busy, they did not have time to select him. Mr. Ritchie, however, had been selected and tendered a position at $660 a year. In due course of time the department received a communication stating that at that time he was so busy engaged that he very reluctantly declined the position. A few months afterward his name was again certified, and he was again selected and tendered a position at the same salary. He again, in a very courteous and business-like letter, declined the position on the business reasons. He appeared at the department Tuesday and called on the proper officers, and after paying respects and thanking them for their selection, he stated that the reason he did not take the position at the time tendered was that he had a business position that was now paying him $500 a year.

The veterans in the secretary's office speak of this case as the most unique that ever came under their observation.

INTENTIONAL DUPLICATE EXPOSURE

IRON ORE TRAFFIC

Synopsis of Penobscot Mining Company Brief In Ore Case.

Contents Against Railroads That Traffic Is Not Interstate.

Holds That It Ends When Delivered From Docks.

On Wednesday the brief of the Penobscot Mining company, in the hearing before the state railroad commission with reference to the rates charged by the ore-carrying railroads in Minnesota, was filed with the state railroad and warehouse commission.

The company appearing as an intervenor, being a shipper of ore over the railroads. The fact that the brief was filed has already been noted.

It is a document about twenty pages and goes into the question as to whether the ore traffic is or is not interstate commerce, taking the negative position in opposition to that taken by the railroads.

It sets forth that the road is wholly within the state, that it is docked within the state as the property of and subject to the will of the owner, who also owns the vessel or hires some other to take it away. The owner may take it within or out of the state, but it is not interstate commerce as long as it remains in the state. Their service ends within the state.

The brief continues that the ore in carload lots is not destined for shipment out of the state, but is to be used in the state, and is destined to the ore docks, which are in the state. The charges for railroad dock service are separate and distinct.

No common carrier in Minnesota or any other state has anything to do with it, and under the same bill it cannot be and is not shipped out of the state. The destination of the ore is to the Harbors and Duluth, and the ore is there put into the pockets allotted to respective owners. The bill of lading is not a receipt for a cargo. With its delivery to the owner the responsibility rests on him.

The Penobscot company is represented to be a minor of ore, and it is set forth that the Penobscot will approach their value in the market if the railroad companies, created and fostered and do not interfere in the state, are not permitted to charge rates which mean confiscation.

It is not without interest the brief, "that the West Duluth furnaces are closed, and that mining property on the Vermilion and Mesabi ranges is dead. The cause is apparent, and the blow is not delivered by or in the interest of interstate commerce or any common carrier engaged in interstate business."

The railroads take the position that the ore traffic is interstate; that it is not within the power of the railroads to make it subject to the state, even if they would.

IS WIPED OUT.

No More Smallpox Among the Indians of Northwest.

S. W. Campbell, of Ashland, and Col. A. M. Tinker, of Massachusetts, are Duluth visitors this afternoon. Mr. Campbell has charge of seven Indian reservations, three of which are in Minnesota and four in Wisconsin, and Col. Tinker is a representative of the Interior department. The gentlemen are on their way home from the Grand Portage Indian reservation, where they have been on a government mission.

The Pigeon River lumber company is constructing several dams in Pigeon river, and the officials were there to inspect the work. They were not to discuss anything in regard to their report, which is to be sent direct to Washington.

Mr. Campbell says that he disposed of the last case of smallpox among the Indians two weeks ago. Smallpox has been prevalent among the aborigines ever since November, 1900. In that time there were 300 cases, and 125 died. The number of patients were quarantined, out of the 300 patients treated by the doctors on the reservation, about 12 died. Mr. Campbell says that they had considerable difficulty in quarantining the red men, but when they once became good and sick, they were model patients in a great many respects and would take anything the doctor ordered. He is hopeful that the disease has been stamped out in the Northwest, but Mr. Campbell has heard several rumors that such is not the case. If the lumber camps are not thoroughly cleaned and fumigated, he is fearful that the disease may again become prevalent.

Mr. Campbell has taken the precaution to have all Indians on the reservation vaccinated. The old bucks took exception to the order, and the law had to be read to them. They evidently thought that it was beneath their dignity to undergo such an operation, but they had no objections to offer to the vaccination of the children. On the 8th of September the United States senate committee on Indian appropriations and Indian affairs will visit the reservations, going first to the Platte River, Wis. reservation. The time of the commission is limited to about five days in this locality and it is thought that they will visit the Wisconsin stations while on this trip. They will go from the Badger state to North Dakota. It is expected that a party will spend at least one day in Duluth. Senator Charles, of Wisconsin, is the chairman of the commission.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Play to select the contestants for the finals in the western golf championship began on the Midlothian club's links at 10 a. m. when the sixteen who qualified yesterday took off. The second and third fields, consisting for lesser prizes, were dispatched earlier.

The forenoon's work was at eighteen holes, match play. By night, after another round of eighteen holes, a field of four will have qualified to play in the semi-finals tomorrow morning. Tomorrow afternoon the amateur championship of the West will have been decided. Fred Hamlin, Chicago Golf club; Walter Egan, Onwentsia, and P. B. Hoyt, Glenview, were the favorites, but, as the weather was more propitious there were predictions that some who fell down yesterday would show a vast improvement today.

W. S. Pillsbury, Onwentsia, defeated J. B. Cady, of Rock Island, 2 up and 1 to go. Bruce Smith, Onwentsia, defeated C. T. Jaffray, St. Paul, 4 up and 2 to go. Walter Egan, Lake Forest, defeated Kenneth Goodman, Midlothian, 4 up and 2 to go. H. J. Tweedie, Belmont, defeated Thomas Taylor, Russell, Detroit, 2 up and 1 to go. Raymond Russell, Detroit, 2 up and 1 to go. A. Carpenter, Onwentsia, 1 up at the twenty-first hole.

The winners of this round began playing during the afternoon to qualify for semi-finals tomorrow. Holabird, the Glenview "Stanny," was the first of the championship players to get away. He was paired with Michael Doran, the St. Paul long driver. The match attracted a good crowd.

On the third green occurred one of those unusual things in golf. Holabird, who was leading, was in a hole, and Doran, who was trailing, was in a hole. Holabird's ball was in a hole, and Doran's ball was in a hole. Holabird's ball was in a hole, and Doran's ball was in a hole.

THE FALL STYLES IN MILLINERY

Felt Will Be Much Used For the Smartest Kinds of Hats, But Velvet Covered Take the Lead.

Opinions are so divided on the subject of changes for next winter that the only logical conclusion to be arrived at is that fashions will be as varied next season as they have been this, says the Paris correspondent of the Millinery Trade Review for August. Well-informed persons, after assuring you that broad brims will carry all before them, throw out mysterious hints concerning possible capotes. For my own part, I feel rather skeptical on the latter subject, and inclined to think that if there is any truth in this movement in favor of capotes it will not take effect for some time. In all probability, not until very late winter or early spring. American buyers, after assuring you that broad brims will carry all before them, throw out mysterious hints concerning possible capotes. For my own part, I feel rather skeptical on the latter subject, and inclined to think that if there is any truth in this movement in favor of capotes it will not take effect for some time. In all probability, not until very late winter or early spring.

If some of the new broad-brimmed hats have regular blocked crowns flat at the top and straight at the sides, others are made flat without apparent crown; while at the same time soft crowns of the smaller beret shape are maintained. Hats with narrower brims and toques mostly have very low crowns which are often entirely concealed by the trimming. In this matter styles have hardly changed. It would seem, moreover, that the sudden prominence given to the Gainsborough hat with brim turned up almost vertically at the side, was merely a flash in the pan. In the new winter models the curve given to the brim is more gentle, though sufficient to afford good scope for trimming underneath. Among these shown are also hats with rolled brims and hats with brims bent over the crown. All this millinery continues to favor the style of trimming low, and the crown high, and in height by what is put upon them.

Felt will be much used for the smartest hats, but velvet will become popular, that is to say, whether they will be limited in less expensive plumage for the second-class trade, or whether they will be limited to bring alicette to the fore again, but the determination to go on trimming low is again and again probably see the alicette around again.

ATTAR OF ROSES.

June the Month the Perfume Is Prepared.

Travellers who cross the Balkan mountains through Shipka Pass, made famous in the war between Turkey and Russia, have a unique and very pleasant experience, when they reach the southern slope of the mountains, if they arrive there in the month of June when the damask rose is in its full glory, says the New York Sun. A spur of the Balkan range jutting out from the mountains extends some distance southward and then turns abruptly east, stretching parallel with the main range for 100 miles or so, the valley included between the mountains and the spur being wide and rather sandy; it is known to fame as the Valley of Roses. More than half the world's supply of that delicate perfume, the attar of roses, comes from this valley in the central part of Bulgaria. In the month of June the valley is in all its glory; the damask roses, covering the fields for scores of square miles, are at their best, the landscape is reddened by their bloom; the air is heavy with their fragrance; the busy harvest time has come and many thousands of peasants are in the fields cutting the flowers as they arrive at perfection; the fruit of their summer's work, if it is a good average year, is about $500,000 worth of the attar roses, which will be distributed to many markets of the world.

It was the irony of fate that led the conquering armies in the Russo-Turkish war into this peaceful valley devoted to the cultivation of beautiful flowers. Here the struggle was at its fiercest, for the Turks fought desperately to keep their enemies from penetrating further toward Constantinople. The valley was laid waste, the rose bushes were trampled under the earth by the passage to and fro of cavalry and heavy artillery; the peasants fled from their fields amid the smoke of their ruined homes; it was years before the valley began to recover. But the industry regained its former proportions only about ten years ago; today the rose is one of the leading resources of Bulgaria.

Everybody knows that the attar of roses is very expensive, but it takes a long time to produce. It takes hundreds of thousands of rose petals to make a pound of attar; in other words, about 100 pounds of the leaves are required to make a pound of the oil. The word attar is not applied alone to the attar of roses, but to the essential oil of any plant which possesses in concentrated form the odor of the vegetable substance from which it is derived.

Why is it that many flowers of exquisite fragrance are not used, like the damask rose and a number of other blossoms, in the manufacture of perfumery? It is because they do not yield their attars by distillation, or do so sparingly, as not to admit of the collection of the attar for commercial purposes; but the attar of the damask rose is obtained without great difficulty, and because the flower attains its highest perfection in the Valley of Roses in Central Bulgaria, that district is the largest center of its cultivation, though some regions in Persia and Turkey also make important contributions to the supply.

So during the month of June the Bulgarian peasantry in this valley, men, women and children, busy in the fields stripping the bushes of their bloom and singing merrily as they work. The distillation of the attar is carried on in a number of towns, but the great center of the industry is Kasanlik, a fourteenth century town of 10,000 inhabitants, where most of the attar is produced. The leaves are placed in a still of quite primitive construction, and a large quantity of water is poured over the leaves, then heat is applied, and the steam carries with it to the essential oil of the apparatus the vapor of the essential oil, which is then liquefied in a condenser and the attar of roses is the result of this last operation.

The regular wholesale dealers can, of course, obtain the pure article, but it is difficult for the casual purchaser, even at the place of manufacture, to buy it except in an adulterated form. The commodity is so expensive that it is difficult for the producers to resist the temptation to add to their profits by diluting a little. The more common form in which the attar of roses gets into the general markets is rose water, which is nothing but water flavored by distillation with a little of the attar.

Though the Valley of Roses is the largest European source of attar of roses, there are other regions where perfume from flowers is produced. The most important of these are in the district around Cannes, Nice and Grasse, which is ten miles inland from Cannes. Here roses, jasmynes and violets grow to such perfection that the processes of perfumery making are successfully applied, obtaining Nice and Cannes among the largest producers of perfumes.

G. A. R. Encampment Rates.

The first announcement of rates to the national G. A. R. encampment at Cleveland, Sept. 10 to 15, was made by the Northern Pacific company today. The regular fare one way is $12.50, and the round trip for the encampment is $14.82. The tickets are good returning Sept. 15, and by an arrangement with the ticket agent may be extended to Oct. 8. The route is via Chicago, and the company has a special excursion charge of $3.

Milliners' orders include a fair amount of ostrich. They are taking tips as well as Amazons, the latter being rather more curled than those provided for the gala days of June. Colored ostrich to match velvets used to cover hats and felt are in some demand, still the order books show a large proportion of black, since black hats are most often trimmed with ostrich.

We promise to figure most prominently among the decorations for fall and early winter; and also birds. A new fashion of fastening wings against the sides of toques and small hats with the tips pointing downward, is very pretty and becoming, and is particularly well suited to the new style of wearing the hair arranged low at the back. Birds will some times be placed in the same position around the outer edges of hat brims. For this purpose the bodies receive very little stuffing, and when several are used together the birds are not chosen of a large size. Larger birds are mounted with outstretched wings, and these are used to cover the low crowns of toques and small hats. Two pairs of wings arranged in the form of an Alsatian bow will serve the same purpose, but in whatever way the bird, or its wings only, are used, the tips of the wings always point horizontally or downward, never aloft.

During the holiday season there will be a great demand for white birds and wings, but for their winter models, milliners make use of wings in different colors, the fruit of their summer's work, a mixture of cream, white, dark brown, black. Birds are frequently in bright colors, rich browns, maroons, and especially parrot and other more somber berries. Couture continue to be in vogue, it is curved so as to turn twice in a great variety of colors and combinations; milliners, however, are not so much returning to the trimming of smart hats and toques; it seems probable that they will be mostly reserved for the second-class trade, and that the smart hats will be made to bring alicette to the fore again, but the determination to go on trimming low is again and again probably see the alicette around again.

A Chic Tuxedo to Be Worn In the Cool Evenings That August Brings.

The chic and exclusive Tuxedo is a delightful addition to the wardrobe when cool August nights and mornings render the sheer shirt waist an insufficient covering. shakes him loose from it. If he should stop to think over the question, "Is this the idea," but it has become a part of him, and he no longer questions it. He would never have voluntarily thought of sacrificing Isaac, for the very thought would have been a shock to his whole being, all his hopes were wrapped up in the life of that boy, or, if he doubted, he would have then and there doubted almost as much as to have become a real companion to his father. He would never have been able to share the burdens of the care of his father's immense interests. But Abraham was not a man of the kind who could see the idea that God was pleased with such human sacrifices. This was a new exception, that of Jephthah, we hear nothing more of human sacrifices. It was the sacrifice of Jephthah of Manassah in the last years of the kingdom.

It was a sad picture to Abraham to see his son undergo the ordeal, but it was a vigorous form, such a trial as has proven the value of the sacrifice.

With that old idea of human sacrifice still in his mind, he was utterly startled when the angel said that the trial comes to any one but it was to have a beneficent ministry if borne with patience. The value of the sacrifice disposition may be changed to sympathy. Bitterness may be eradicated and the sacrifice may be made the way to the road to which the trial serves as a finger-board. Carlyle once said that the trial is the way to the Kingdom of Heaven. With that old idea of human sacrifices in their efforts to sing the Psalms of David were all lost a little while ago the value of the trial was changed, that there only the melody was heard. It is so with the seeming loss of the trial. The trial is the way to the Kingdom of Heaven. With that old idea of human sacrifices, if we hear them as we ought, they turn out for us in far more than we could have dreamed of.

The Spirit of God is the great Teacher to guide our faltering steps through the trials which we have with the trials so often lead us.

Fortunate is the person who is able to see the value of any trial because a young father was standing by the grave of his only child. He turned away from the grave with a feeling of awe. He says that he will not understand the lesson which God wants us to learn from the trial. He says that the blessing of God in things right at hand

Tradition says that All Hail, or hail of riches, but he squandered all his money and left his estate, when watering his camel, looked into the sand, saw glittering gems and decided to go on some distant journey, but in the conscientious use of what is near can be found the richest treasure. When young Louis Agassiz was in financial distress, his mother wrote him that he should not go looking for something which would at once yield him a living, but he replied that he would rather reach many things whose indulgence might keep him from the highest attainments of science, than to devote his studies to the great enrichment of the world as well as of his own life. It is the greatest blessing of life that the tribulations from life that show the benefits of bearing in patience and using wisely what is near. The music of the orchestra sometimes comes perilously near some of the most beautiful music in the world, but suddenly it sweeps into the most divinest harmony. So do the harsh elements of life that make the sweetest elements of human character.

CHARACTER.

Men test their bridges, their engines, their horses and everything else that they have made, by putting them to the test of life's work. Character, too, must stand its tests. Only then can its strength be known, and its sweetness be appreciated upon. The sacred writer says that "God did prove Abraham." He did not only test his faith, but he was leading him about, teaching him the strange lessons of faith. Had Abraham been a man of the world, he would have henceforth be trusted? These were important questions in this trial. That Abraham was a man of the world, we know, for he had learned the lesson of faith so perfectly that now he was ready to give up his life for the sake of the voice of God required, even to the final point of sacrificing his only son. He was a man of the world, but he was a man who would provide a means of fulfilling his promises. But what God wanted was a man who would give up his life for the actual death of the lad. The only way of a willing spirit on the part of the father was to give up his life for the future work.

And to the uttermost is the character of Abraham in this trial. This is also what is required of all God's children. The man who is a man of the world, and who is simply the confident yielding to the divine will in all that comes near him, is not a man of the world, but a man in all the true sense. It is impossible

The Scriptures never tire of emphasizing the idea that God rewards his faithful servants. In the Old Testament, the prophets were often persecuted for their faithfulness, but they were rewarded with long lives and the promise of a future inheritance. In the New Testament, the apostles were persecuted and even martyred, but they were rewarded with the promise of eternal life. The Scriptures also teach that God rewards his faithful servants with His love and grace. This is the greatest reward of all, and it is the one that cannot be taken away from us. We should always strive to be faithful to God, and we should always be grateful for His love and grace. The Scriptures are full of examples of God rewarding His faithful servants, and we should always look to these examples as we live our lives. We should always strive to be like the faithful servants of God, and we should always be grateful for His love and grace. The Scriptures are the best guide we have for living our lives, and we should always turn to them for guidance. We should always strive to be faithful to God, and we should always be grateful for His love and grace. Mr. Butterfield's theory is that his digestive apparatus was out of order when he came to camp, possibly from overwork, for he is a large man and he always been a good liver, and he believes that a good, long rest alone can put the human machinery in good working order again. He says that he feels better already for his fast which he says may end tomorrow and may continue for another fortnight. "I am not well yet," he remarked, showing his tongue, which was somewhat coated. "My tongue must look better than that before my stomach calls for help in my eating."

His faith that such a long abstinence from any kind of nourishment would finally result in health is not shared by Mrs. Butterfield by his friends in the vicinity, who, while it is true, are assuming a great deal of responsibility so far away from home and medical advice. The family is planned to leave at this time for the New Hampshire, and Mr. Butterfield secret service man who had previously secreted himself in a neighboring office closet. The officials soon found that Chinamen who presented a certificate marked with the letter A were allowed to proceed without question, while those having certificates that did not bear this cabalistic mark were turned back without ceremony.

BUNCH OF RASCALS

Later on it was developed that the letter A on a certificate indicated that the amount demanded had been paid. Several Chinamen were sent through with the requisite A mark on their certificates, made by one of the secret service men. The utmost care and secrecy was maintained from the first to secure positive proof against each man under suspicion. A special United States attorney will be detailed to prosecute the persons arrested.

Hoey was appointed collector about a year and a half ago. His time is taken up by his duties in Washington state. When Hoey received his appointment he came to receive instructions as to how to go about his work. Hoey Gage took occasion to talk with him on the subject of the duties of public officials. He told Hoey of every temptation to do wrong-doing, and that to a certain limited extent the honor of the office was at stake. Hoey Gage explained that his predecessor at Nogales had been displaced because of certain laws and regulations, and warned him that his administration must be at times clean and that he must be honest and that of the country. The number of Chinamen who have bought their way in to the United States is a large number, and the Nogales' officials is not known, but is believed to be large. A special agent has been sent to the Nogales office of the office, if he finds it is necessary.

able to answer. They fear us." Commenting on the fantastic idea of a commercial bond of the European nations against the United States, the Outlook says: "One might as well try to hang a Venetian blind over the sun as to try to exclude the influence of the industrial United States from Europe. For one thing, Great Britain would have no party to the bond. For another, the power of American reprisals would be terrible. Even if Great Britain were a party of a struggle between the classes, caused by the proposed tariff under the German tariff Austria would suffer grievously. The result would be to ruin countries which are at issue with themselves and each other and whose fiscal arrangements excite class against class. The policy is one of self-destruction and of making the United States a competitor."

DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY⁹⁸

and College of Shorthand and Typewriting.

Eleventh Annual Opening, Monday, September 9th, 1901. Night School Opens Same Date.

A Prosperous Year.

The school year about to close has been by far the most prosperous in the history of the college. More than 300 students have been enrolled during the year, which is about 40 per cent greater than the enrollment during any previous year. This liberal patronage has enabled us to perfect our system of instruction by adding many new features to our school, and calling to our aid as teachers a corps of the most competent men in the profession. As a consequence, we shall begin the next term better prepared for doing thorough, satisfactory work in all departments of our college than we have ever been before.

International Preparatory Department.

The constantly growing demand by young men and women of foreign birth for instruction in the English language has induced us to put in this department, which, in future, will be an important feature of our work. Mr. A. K. Ostergren has been engaged for principal of this department. Mr. Ostergren, a highly educated gentleman, was born in Sweden, where he received a liberal education and graduated from a college there before coming to this country. Mr. Ostergren is also a graduate of an American institution, and has been a successful teacher the greater part of his life. He is a classical scholar, speaks Swedish, Norwegian, French and German, and will be prepared to teach intelligently all foreigners who speak these languages. He has conducted schools of this kind before with great success and is the author of the Swedish Chautauquan.

Foreigners must realize their disadvantage in this country, in not having an adequate command of the English language, and should avail themselves of the excellent opportunities that will be offered them of acquiring a sufficient knowledge of English to take up any of the other courses in our college.

Can Bookkeeping and Shorthand be Successfully Taught by Mail?

We think not. In order that anything may be successfully taught there must be sympathy between teacher and student. The teacher must have a thorough acquaintance with the student, and the student must understand the teacher. This intimacy can never be brought about by mail. There must be personal contact. Many who have tried to study these subjects by mail have given up in despair, when a little encouragement by the teacher at the proper time would have helped them to overcome the difficulty. The teacher should be on hand to help when help is needed. Telling is not teaching, and attempting to teach by mail is nothing more or less than telling. If, however, you have fully decided to take a course by mail, we believe you can make better progress in the branches by taking lessons from us than from any correspondence school, as careful and prompt attention will be given to this department, and you can receive your corrected lessons on the same day, or the day after you send them to us. Then you will always have the privilege of attending our school to finish your course, and will have our help and influence to aid you in procuring a position when you are prepared for one.

To Business Men.

We fully appreciate the confidence shown in our school by all the leading business firms at the head of the lakes. This has been clearly evidenced of late by the constant demand for our graduates. We regret very much our inability, during the past month, to supply this unlooked for demand, but trust that our attendance may increase in proportion to the demand for and popularity of our graduates and thus enable us in future to supply our patrons with competent help when they need it.

Will Teach Any System.

The additional teachers to our staff gives us FOUR THOROUGHLY COMPETENT TEACHERS IN SHORTHAND, and in future we shall be prepared to teach any of the standard or light-line systems now in use. Students who have begun in the Pitman, Munson, Gregg, etc., may, if they prefer, complete the course here in the same system.

Discipline.

Our discipline is strict. We believe there is no Royal road to learning, and that the success of the student depends on the individual effort he puts forth. Our teachers are employed, not to amuse or entertain the students, but to impart to them and guide their energies aright. They in turn require of each one under their charge, punctuality, obedience and diligence. Students who do not conform to these requirements cannot retain their connection with the College.

To Business University Graduates.

If you are out of employment do not hesitate to call at the College office. We shall gladly render you any assistance we can. It matters not whether you left this college one month ago or nine years ago, we have the same interest in your welfare and success, and consider it a part of our duty to give you all possible assistance. It is safe to assert that we receive ten times as many calls for competent stenographers and accountants as do all other private schools, all typewriter agents and employment bureaus at the head of the lakes. During the past month some twenty or thirty positions were offered that we could not find graduates to fill. These positions might have been yours for the asking. We should be pleased to hear from or see you at any time.

It Pays to Attend the Best.

If you wish to prepare yourself for a position in the business world, the cheapest and best way to do so is to take a complete course at the DULUTH BUSINESS UNIVERSITY. Do not waste your time by taking private lessons, lessons by mail, nor attending some so-called business college because its rates are low. We do not know the rates of these cheap schools and care less. We do know, however, that we are prepared to give full value for every dollar paid us for tuition, books, etc., also, that no student on leaving our school feels that he has paid too much for what he has received. We could curtail our expenses in many ways and thus lower our rates of tuition, but we believe that these courses cannot be too thorough and that our graduates cannot be too proficient. Some idea may be formed of how precisely our courses meet the requirements of the up-to-date business man from the fact that out of about 200 graduates whom we recommended to responsible clerical positions during the past year, not one has failed to give entire satisfaction.

Department of Telegraphy and Railroading.

Arrangements have been completed for the establishment of this new department in our school. Instruments, wires, batteries and all necessary equipments have been ordered, and will be in readiness for the beginning of the fall term, Sept. 9. The principal engaged for this department is thoroughly competent, having had 11 years of actual experience in railroading and dispatching. During this time he has been employed in various capacities. This has given him a wide experience and enabled him to become a first-class operator and to acquire a thorough knowledge of railroading. Pupils will receive individual instruction and no pains will be spared to make this department strictly first class in every respect. There never was a better demand than at the present time for first-class telegraph operators. Our principal will be in touch with all leading railroad officials and we believe that we shall experience no difficulty in procuring good situations for our students as soon as they graduate from this department.

Time Required to Complete the Course.

This depends largely upon the previous education, industry and application of the student. We usually find it necessary for average students to spend at least six months in either the commercial or shorthand department before we can recommend them as competent accountants or stenographers. Shorthand and bookkeeping we find the easiest part of each of these courses. It usually requires six months of faithful drill in grammar, composition, spelling, penmanship, typewriting, etc., before students are competent to fill positions as office assistants, and when any school advertises that two or three months is all the time that is necessary for this preparation, you can generally decide they are searching for the gullible. We find that the best educated students we receive would be well repaid for spending at least one year with us, as they could then be prepared to fill better positions at better salaries. We would advise all students to take at least a one-year course if they can afford to do so.

Night School.

Many young people who are employed and cannot attend our day sessions, could by putting forth a little effort, join our evening classes. It will pay to make the effort, as you will better appreciate what you receive on account of having done so. Scores of ambitious young people have in the past, been assisted to the best clerical positions offered, through their having taken the courses in our evening school. Decide to enter our evening school at the opening, Sept. 9.

WANTED—Board and rooms at reasonable rates for some twenty or thirty young men and young women, who are expected to enroll at the opening, Sept. 9. Apply at the College office.
WANTED—A number of young men and young women to accept desirable places to work mornings, evenings, and Saturdays for board and room.
WANTED—A number of desirable places for young men and women attending the College to work mornings, evenings and Saturdays for board and room.

The College Office Will Be Open

From 8 to 12 each morning, from 1 to 6 each afternoon and from 7 to 9 each evening during the next two weeks. All intending to enroll at this opening are requested to call at the college to make final arrangements.

A Large Attendance Assured

Our Eleventh Annual Opening promises to be the largest in the history of the College. Applications have already been received and students are enrolling from Duluth, Superior and all surrounding towns and villages, as well as from North and South Dakota, Michigan and Iowa, and we expect at least seventy-five new students on opening day, which will be by far the largest opening we have ever had.

Sydney Rosenfeld went to Buffalo to see Kieraly's "Constantinople," and the report he brought back was very enthusiastic. Negotiations are pending to bring the spectacle to the New York theater immediately after the Buffalo season. Rosenfeld will at once start West again, to be present at the opening night of his play, "A Modern Crusade," in which Thomas Q. Seabrooke is to star.

R. L. Giffen, the business manager of James K. Hackett, entertained some friends with a Broadway story experience that sounds rather like a madhouse yarn. "It was," he said, "making over matters generally with a manager of a cast, at that time. "There was a constant dull, aching through the small of my back, over the kidneys. The kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular and too frequent in action. I could not rest well nights and was generally run down. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills and highly recommended that I conclude to try them, and got a box at W. A. Abbott's Drug store. They helped me from the very start and soon freed me from all aches and pains, and rendered the action of the kidneys healthy and normal."

DECIDEDLY the most advantageous lace curtain buying opportunity of the year commences at the Glass Block Monday morning and lasts the entire week.

The wonderful economies presented, the vast assortments of excellent high class, new styles of lace curtains offered will make this sale of extraordinary moment and importance. We are always delighted to be promoters of such sales as this.

It was a fortunate circumstance that brings these lace curtains to you at a saving of fully 33 1/3 per cent.

When in market several days ago, our lace curtain buyer had first choice from the great closing out sale of lace curtains from the stock of Arnold B. Heine & Co., one of New York's largest curtain importers.

THIS house closed out their large stock of curtains at a tremendous sacrifice. We, together with a large Minneapolis concern, were the first and heaviest buyers.

Being on the ground in person we got the cream of the stock, picked out the prettiest styles, secured the best values in the lot, (one of the many advantages of sending buyers direct to the market.) We bought a very large quantity, and have made the prices so low that it will be an object for every housekeeper in Duluth and Superior to buy enough lace curtains to last several years.

From four to five pairs of a style, and plenty to last most all the week.

We are expecting, and are prepared for wonderfully large crowds. Come Monday if you can.

Each and every one of us have been entirely cured of our troubles and we are naturally glad to tell of it.

I have tried several different ways of making it, but there's no way so good as to follow the directions properly: then we have a delicious drink." Mrs. A. E. Moulton, 331 Lynn St., Malden, Mass.
